Leader and GOP Outline Plans For Legislature

Little in Common Between Governor, Political Opponents

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader and Republican legislative leaders come to grips today over what program will be rushed for final action during the remainder of the 1957 General Assembly.

Both sides outlined their plans —Leader in a 10 point program and the four top Republican legislative leaders in a 25-point policy statement. If both parties adhere to their programs, there is little likelihood of any comprehensive agreement since they have little in common.

Leader termed his 10 points the "cornerstones" of his program but reiterated that many other administration proposals should be given full consideration.

Contrastingly, the Republican statement insisted that any proposal outside of those advocated in its program would be measured by the yardstick of "whether it will benefit the people, whether it will work and whether we can afford it."

On one proposal Leader and the Republicans were directly opposed. The governor asked that legislative status be given the placing of some 10,000 state employes under civil service by the administration. The GOP said civil service would not be necessary to provide job security for professional and technical state workers.

Here is the way the governor outlined the remainder of his priority program:

Priority Goals

—Aid for higher education embodying 5,000 college scholarships annually; a student loan fund and establishment of junior colleges at locations not served by present college facilities.

—A highways program which would embrace matching of all federal funds, maintaining and improving the state highways system and "giving the cities, boroughs and townships necessary support for streets and roads."

—Registration of lobbyists.

—No reduction in the administration's budget for the state mental hospital program.

—Special education training centers for training of teachers of handicapped children.

—Further governmental reorganization following some 40 recommendations of the Pennsylvania Commission on Governmental Reorganization.

—Outlawing of wire tapping and prohibition of discrimination in state-aided universities and colleges.

—Revision of the state Constitution with emphasis on removing the low limitation on governmental borrowing.

—Enactment of a traffic safety program, especially the use of radar to enforce speed laws.

The Republican policy statement was more general in nature. And the GOP again emphasized economy and tax reduction for business and industry. Here are the main points in the GOP program:

Payment to local school districts of 31 million dollars in additional subsidies. The 1955 session enacted such an appropriation but the governor vetoed it on the ground that the lawmakers had not made the money available. The GOP

Six Hurt When 30 Get Panicky On Trolley Car

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Six persons were injured today in a panicky rush of 30 passengers to get off a burning trolley, set afire when a 600 volt power line dropped on the roof of the car.

The sputtering line burned through the roof of the trolley "like a torch," a witness said. Within a few seconds, flames began spreading toward the front of the Pittsburgh Railways Co. vehicle, a Route 25 trolley en route from the West End to McKees Rocks.

Motorman Edward Covert opened the doors, but many of the frightened riders began smashing windows in a frantic effort to escape. Most of the injuries were suffered in the pushing and shoving to get out.

Three men were treated for leg, hand and foot injuries at Allegheny General Hospital. Two women and a man were taken to Ohio Valley Hospital for treatment of shock and bruises.

Firemen quickly extinguished the fire, but police worked for nearly an hour to clear a kingsize traffic jam along West Carson Street and other main routes into downtown Pittsburgh during the 8 to 9 a.m. rush hour.

American Chain Reports Boost in Earnings, Sales

The board of directors of the American Chain & Cable Co., Inc., of which the Monessen Page plant is a subsidiary, have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 62½ cents per share on the common stock of the company, payable on June 15 to stockholders on record as of June 5, 1957.

According to the statement of earnings, net sales of $31,479,725 for the three-month period ending March 31, as compared with $29,808,028 for the same period in 1956, were reported.

Cyrus N. Johns, president and chief executive officer, formerly from Monessen, noted that the net sales increase amounted to $1,671,697, or more than five per cent over the corresponding 1956 period. The net income climbed from $1,804,474 to $2,110,493, an increase of $306,019 or more than 16 per cent.

Earnings per share of common stock, computed on 1,099,279 shares, amounted to $1.92 during the quarter. Earnings per share during the same 1956 period and computed on a total of 1,057,000 shares outstanding, amounted to $1.71.

This Is Safety?

NEW YORK (UP)—Two traffic safety experts, demonstrating hazardous driving on a television show, were given summonses Wednesday for driving eastbound on a one-way westbound street.

Week of Court Is Set Aside

The first week of the April term of Westmoreland County criminal court has been set aside.

An order vacating the week of May 20 was signed by Judges Richard D. Laird, Edward M. Bauer and John M. O'Connell.

The order said that all of the criminal cases requiring jury trial can be tried in one week, beginning May 27.

The sheriff's office has been directed to notify jurors scheduled for the first week that they need not appear.

Charleroi School Tax Is Increased

The Charleroi School adopted a budget for the 1957-58 school year calling for a tax increase of three mills. This will bring the total millage to 31.

The budget calls for expenditures amounting to $850,581.

U. S. to Keep Strength In Europe, Ike Claims

BONN, Germany (UP)—President Eisenhower assured the North Atlantic alliance today that the United States will maintain its forces at their present strength despite Britain's planned defense cuts.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conveyed this message from the President to the first session of the 15-nation NATO council, made up of the foreign ministers of the countries in the alliance.

He said the President gave it to him when they talked just before Dulles took off for Germany. The American view was prompted by a feeling that the British cuts might set off a chain reaction of reductions among the other NATO nations.

Dulles said the President had instructed him to assure the council that the United States contemplates no change in the disposition of its forces from what was announced at the last council session in Paris last December.

NATO officials warned in reports prepared for the council today that increasing Soviet military strength is threatening the NATO alliance both in Europe and the Middle East.

The reports dealt with:

—Russian policy, particularly in Europe. This report warned that the Soviets' military strength and potential is constantly on the increase. It cautioned, too, that the Kremlin will continue to alternate threats with smiles with the single aim of disrupting the Western Alliance.

—The Middle East. The report put the blame for heightened tension in this explosive area solely on Russia.

House May Halt Race Betting Bill

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Senate approved bill for a statewide vote on legalized horse race betting in Pennsylvania appeared stalled in the House of Representatives today in the wake of a veiled threat by Gov. George M. Leader to veto the measure if it reached his desk.

House Speaker W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong) said "it would be very embarrassing for the House to pass the referendum only to have it vetoed."

"I can see no reason at all why the House should move the horse race referendum in view of the governor's announced intention to veto it," Helm said. "This is my own opinion, but other House members have told me the same thing."

Helm said there was no Republican policy on the proposed referendum, but indicated it "could" be considered next Sunday night at the weekly GOP legislative policy session.

Not Taking Stand

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean) said he was not taking a stand "for or against" the referendum, preferring to see what action the GOP-controlled chamber would take on the controversial bill. Johnson added he "personally" would not direct the House Law and Order Committee to pigeonhole or bring the bill to the floor for a vote.

However, Rep. Harry A. Naugle (R-Somerset), committee chairman, said he would "listen" to the House leadership on any procedural plans they had for the referendum.

"I'm not taking a stand on the bill," Naugle said, "but I want to reflect the sentiment of the leadership and my committee in any action we taken on the referendum."

Naugle caught his leadership off guard recently when he brought an "omnibus" gambling bill containing a referendum on horse wagering to the floor without advance warning. The bill was later returned to the committee on technical grounds.

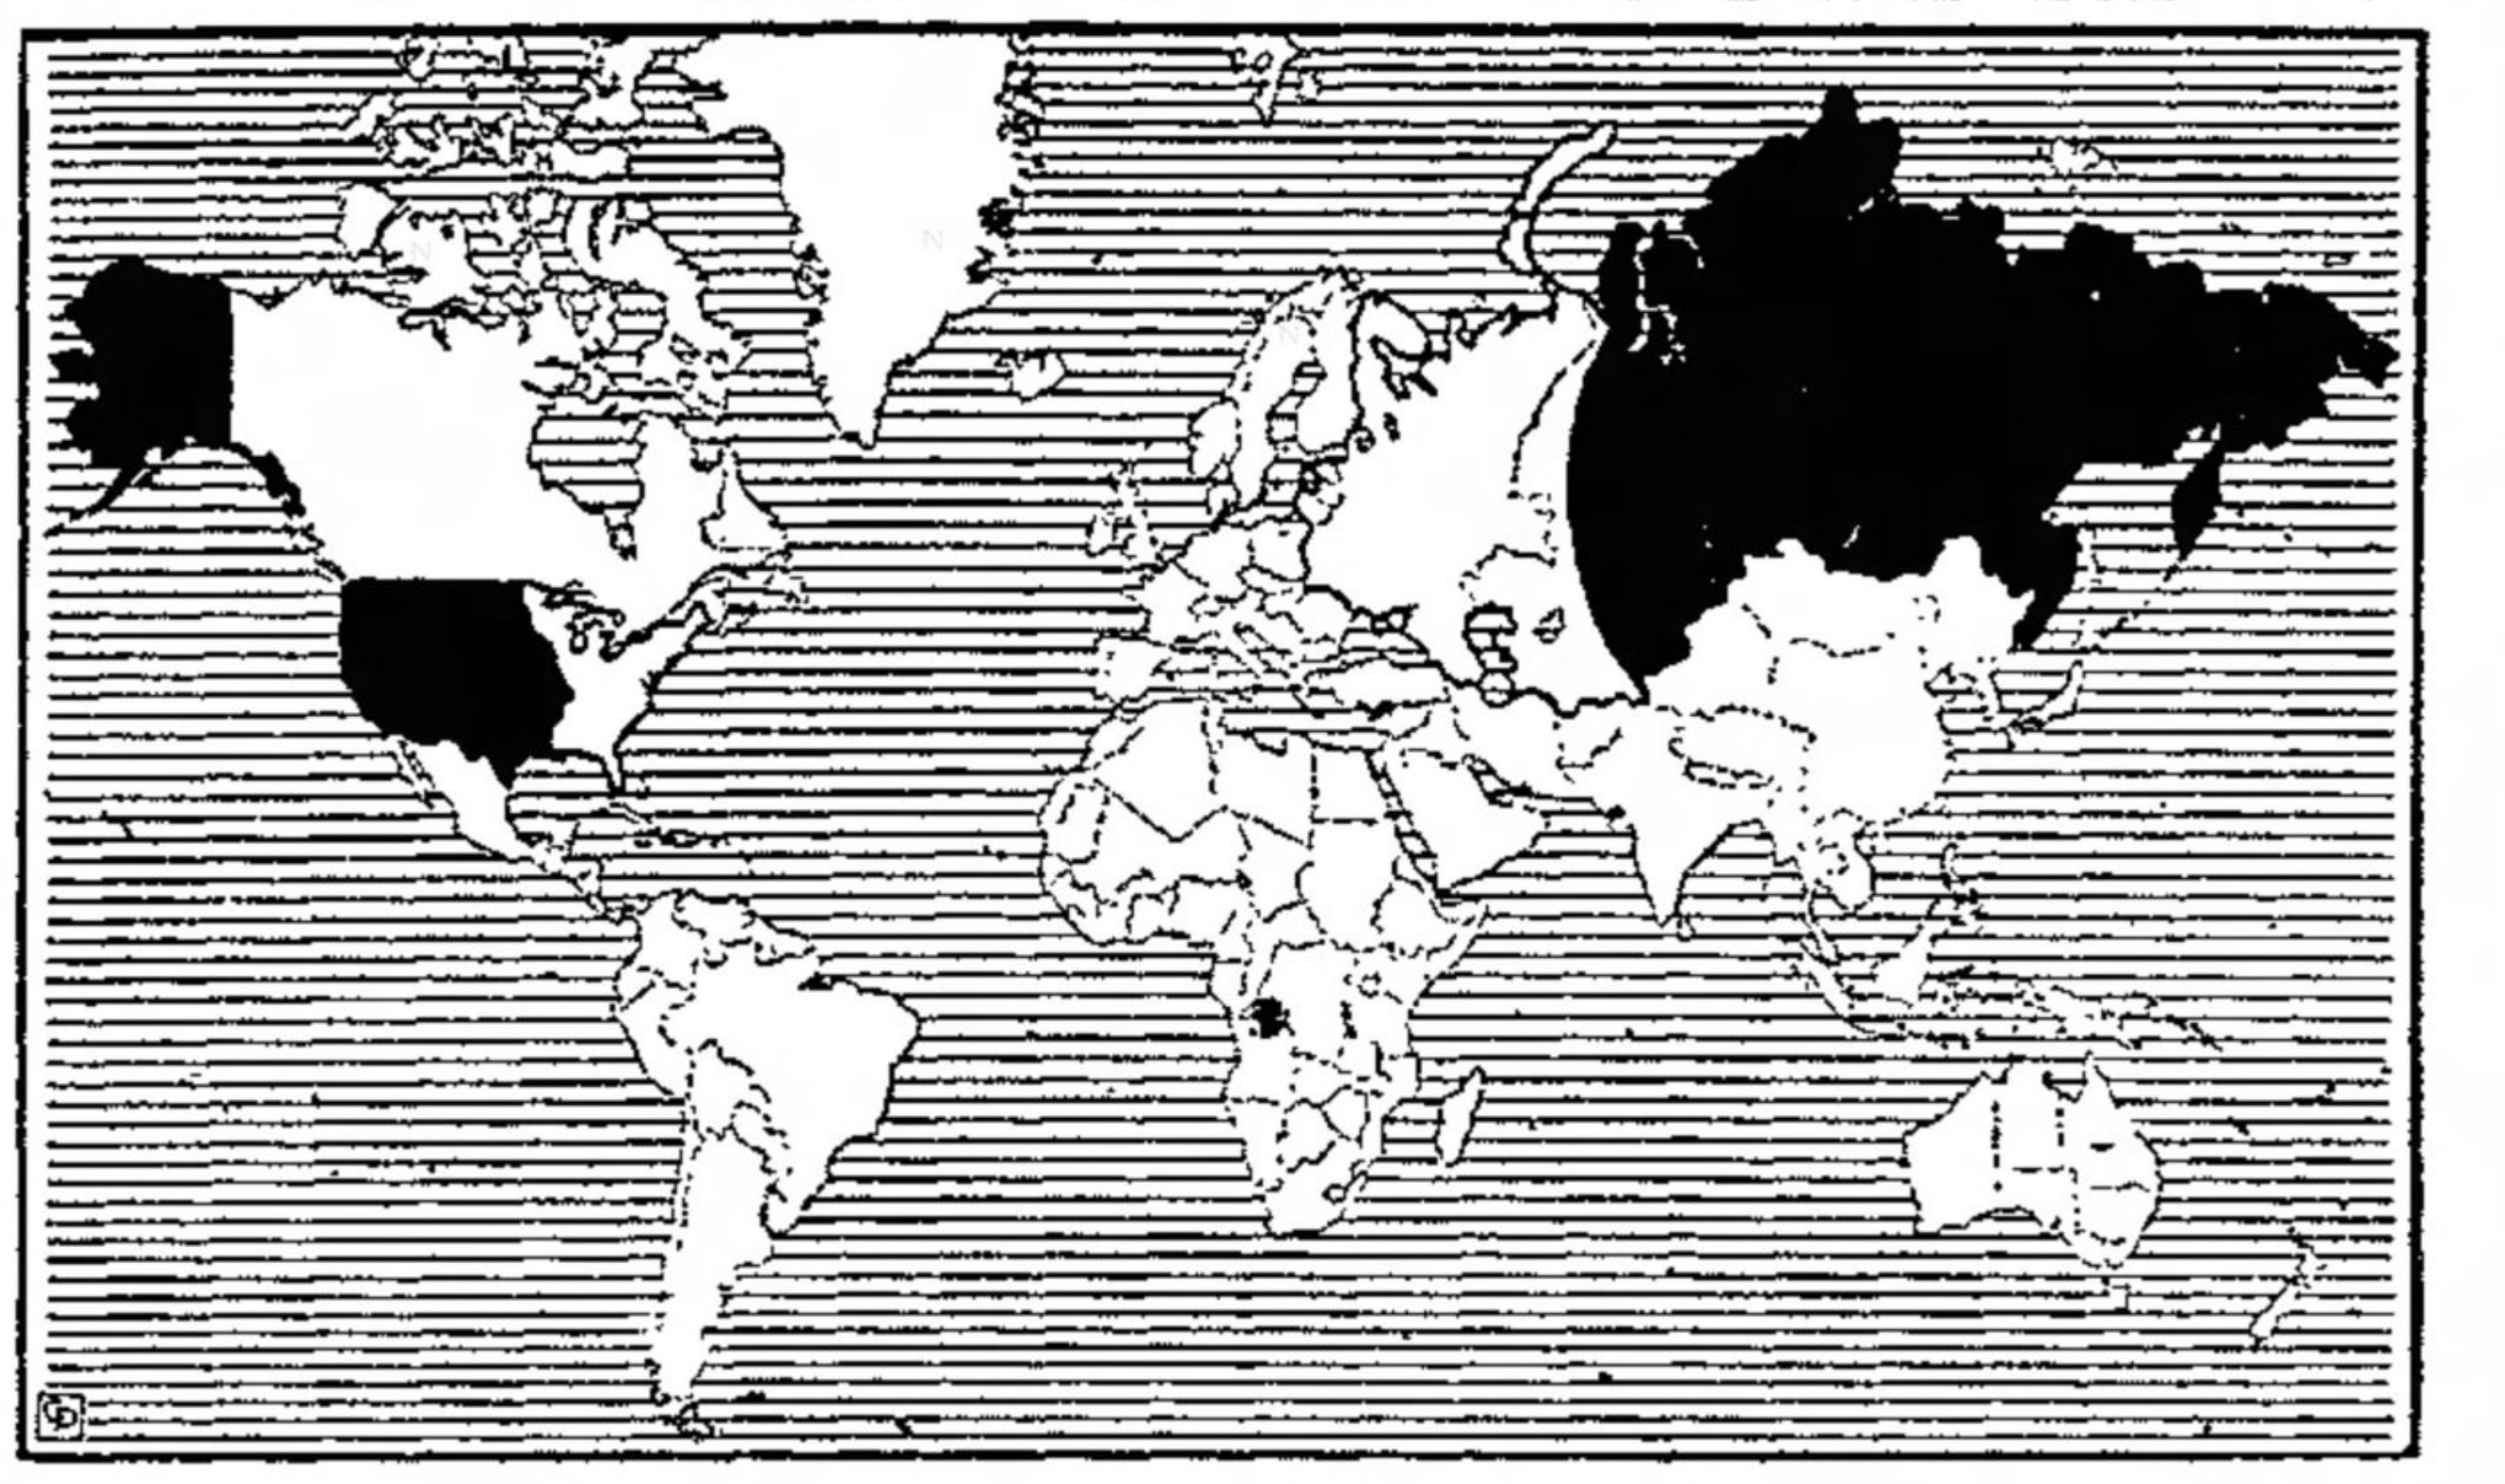
Naugle said his committee would not meet today but "could" gather sometime next week. However, he was uncertain if the referendum would be considered, adding "I try not to tell the committee what to do."

Attorneys for Banks Named

Attys. Frank P. Ezerski, Jr., of Monessen, and Robert M. Carson, Sr., of Greensburg, have been appointed defense counsel for Edward J. Banks, of Pricedale, charged with the murder of his wife, Ruby.

The court order, signed by Judge Edward M. Bauer, followed a petition presented to the Westmoreland County courts in which Banks stated he is without means or funds with which to employ counsel.

Banks is accused of killing his wife with a .12 guage shotgun outside a friend's home in Pricedale April 4. He has been lodged in the county jail since.



SOVIET INSPECTION OFFER LOOKS WEIGHTED — Roughly, these are the areas of the U.S.S.R. and U. S. which Moscow proposes might be opened for aerial inspection in the interests of dis armament and peace. Washington notes that the Soviet inspection area covers vast wastes of Siberian tundra, not exactly the heartland of Soviet defenses and weapons production, while the U. S. inspection area includes vast numbers of defense plants.

Pittsburgh Steel Co. Wants Efficiency in Local Schools

The Monessen School District's biggest taxpayer, Pittsburgh Steel Co. today said that "every possible effort be made to trim school district services whose costs exceed their value to the entire community."

The statement issued by Robert E. Lauterbach, company secretary, came on the heels of the introduction of the proposed 1957-58 Monessen school budget which calls for an increase of three mills over the present 16 mills.

Pittsburgh Steel's present school tax bill is approximately $250,000 annually. The three-mill hike, if the budget is adopted, will cost the firm about $48,000 more a year.

In the statement issued today, Robert E. Lauterbach, company secretary, said:

Statement Follows

"As a corporate taxpayer, Pittsburgh Steel already pays direct taxes amounting to approximately 30 per cent of the revenue of the Monessen School District. Wage taxes paid by employes of Pittsburgh Steel's Monessen plant make up another considerable portion of the monies received by the district.

"Pittsburgh Steel is vitally interested in the maintenance of a sound and progressive school district and recognizes that this cannot be achieved without adequate financial support from all elements of the community. The company concurs with the board in the necessity of raising teaching salaries in Monessen since a strong faculty is the foundation of any educational system. The proposed salary increases would not only correct present inequities between Monessen and other school districts in the area but would also help Monessen to build for the future.

"On the other hand, Pittsburgh Steel feels that a three-mill increase in a single year, roughly a 19 per cent boost, is high enough to require that every possible effort be made to trim school district services whose costs exceed their value to the entire community.

Naval Chief Says Nuclear War Is Total Destruction

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States and Russia would destroy each other in an atomic war, Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, has warned.

The United States now has the nuclear weapons for "complete destruction" of Russia and the Soviet Union either now has or will soon have the "capability of doing the same thing to us," Burke said.

With "mutual destruction" in prospect from nuclear war, Burke said "there is apt to be some sort of stalemate where neither side dares to start a war because it will result in destroying the whole northern hemisphere."

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, soon to become chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, warned that this situation increases the danger of "limited war" because "the Soviets have acquired a greater capability to wage general war and can, therefore, undertake limited aggression with less fear of total retaliation."

The comments by Burke and Twining, outgoing Air Force chief of staff, were contained in a heavily censored 1331-page transcript of testimony by defense officials on President Eisenhower's $38,500,000,000 defense budget for the new fiscal year.

Man Murdered In Monongahela, Police Report

A 64-year-old Monongahela man, Giuseppe Mansuco, was found dead in an alley near 123 East Main St. in Monongahela about 7:15 this morning.

Police believe the man was murdered sometime late last night or early this morning.

He was found with a belt wrapped around his neck. His forehead was also bruised.

Monongahela police said they had no other details.

At noon today a team of investigators from Monongahela and Washington County were probing into the alleged murder.

Police said no information would be available until late this afternoon.

The victim operated a shoemaker shop not far from where his body was found.

Slight Earthquake In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — A slight earthquake rocked the southwestern part of San Francisco again Wednesday.

The University of California seismograph recorded the quake at 12:27 p.m. e.d.t. It had a magnitude of 2.5 to 2 on the Richter Scale of 10 and lasted 45 seconds.

Seismologists said it was an aftershock of the March 22 quake that caused considerable damage in San Francisco.

House Committee Tentatively Okays School Program

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Education and Labor Committee today tentatively approved a five-year two - billion dollar school construction program.

The actin was taken as the committee completed its second day of closed-door work on the bill, a compromise reached by Eisenhower Republicans and liberal Democrats.

President Eisenhower had asked for a four-year $1,300,000,000 program. The Democrats had proposed a six - year $3,600,000,000 program.

Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-N.C.) announced after today's secret session that his committee had approved the size of the program—five years at 400 million dollars a year.

The committee action is subject to reconsideration when the members vote on final approval of the entire prgram.

32 Killed in Crash of British Chartered Plane

BLACKBUSHE, England (UP)—The three survivors of a plane crash that killed 32 persons here Wednesday night were listed in critical condition today.

A chartered Viking airliner loaded with British servicemen for the Middle East crashed and burned when one engine failed shortly after it took off for Tripoli, Libya.

Four servicemen were thrown clear of the blazing wreck but one died later.

The 32 victims included a serviceman's wife and her two children and the plane's stewardess. The rest were men.

A U.S. plane belonging to the 200th Fleet Aircraft Service Squadron based at this military airfield was over the field and reported the crash when the plane went down two miles from the runway.

Airman Franklin P. Keyser of Boswell, Pa., said, "We saw it take off and as we circled the field waiting for it to clear we saw it dive into the ground and explode.

U.S. Navy men led by Lt. Curtis Churston of Atlanta reached the wreck with a firetruck almost simultaneously with the airport firefighters.

Boatswain's Mate Charles J. Lee of Brooklyn, Technician Chuck Chignola of Quincy, Mass., O. G. Richardson of Levermore, Calif., and Seaman Ron Falinger of Dearborn, Mich., helped extinguish the blaze and remove the bodies.

Beck, Duff in Split; To Testify Wednesday

WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamsters President Dave Beck and his "eminent counsel," former Sen. James H. Duff (R-Pa.), have split up.

Beck said in a statement issued by his office late Wednesday night that he has disassociated with Duff and his law firm.

The statement also said Beck would appear before the Senate Rackets Committee next Wednesday. Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D - Ark.) Wednesday ordered Beck to appear before the group.

McClellan also defied Beck to "blow the lid right off the Senate," as the Teamster leader once promised to do if called for further testimony. Beck has repudiated the statement.

The committee has indicated it wants to question Beck about relations between his union and companies in which he had an interest. The group questioned Beck last month about some $320,000 which committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said recently Beck "stole" from the union.

Beck cited the Fifth Amendment 117 times during the hearings, often saying he did it upon the advice of his "eminent counsel, Senator Duff."

Duff—who is associated with the law firm of Davis, Richberg, Tydings, Beebe & Landa—did not accompany Beck to the hearings. Beck was represented in the hearing room by Arthur D. Condon, another member of the firm.

Beck earlier in the day had notified the AFL-CIO he would also appear at a hearing next Monday to answer corruption charges against the Teamsters stemming from the Senate hearings. His date with the senators is two days later.

McClellan said Beck had been notified that the committee has received new information "regarding Mr. Beck's activities and the use of the power of the union to further his own financial interests." He said 8 or 10 witnesses would be heard.

Presence of U.S. Fleet Boon to King Hussein

By UNITED PRESS

Israeli sources said today in Jerusalem that presence of the U. S. 6th Fleet in the Middle East will encourage moderate elements in Syria in their struggle to overcome the pro-Communist groups now controlling the country.

Reports received in Jerusalem said Syria already is withdrawing its 3,000 or more troops from Jordan, chiefly because of the strong moral support the United States gave King Hussein by sending the fleet to the eastern Mediterranean.

Israeli foreign ministry sources said events during the next two weeks may show the U.S. Fleet move was intended not only to give encouragement to Hussein but also to the anti-Communist elements in Syria who would like to halt that country's swing toward the left.

Syria Plans Elections

Syria holds important parliamentary by-elections May 4 which may give an indication of the future trend in that country. In the meantime news filtering into Jerusalem said the Syrian army was pulling back across the border.

A United Press Washington dispatch Wednesday predicting a Syrian troop withdrawal said American officials would interpret such a move as a sign Syria's dependence on the Soviet Union was lessening.

The presence of the 6th Fleet somewhere off the coast of Lebanon also was having important repercussions in Cairo. There was no official Egyptian reaction, but Egyptian political circles said the move had "fired a fatal blow" for the Eisenhower Doctrine in the Middle East.

All Quiet In Jordan

In Jordan itself the three-day feast of Id El Fitr, bringing an end to the Moslem holy month of Ramadan, brought calm. Even the Bedouin guards in front of the U.S. Embassy were removed as tension died out.

A Cairo dispatch reported that the American flag ships Flying Trader and Exchange would arrive at opposite ends of the Suez Canal Friday to move through the canal—the second and third American flag ships to use the waterway since it was opened.

In London the 14-nation Suez Canal Users Assn. met today to try to decide whether to accept the Egyptian plan for operating the canal. The group met earlier this week but was unable to make a decision. In the meantime shipping companies were pressuring the group to accept Egyptian operation.

Jail Trustys Are Not So Trustworthy

Two trustys at Washington county jail weren't so trustworthy last weekend and as a result have been transferred from the county jail to Western Penitentiary.

The two trustys involved were Ronald Lee Gorby, of Washington, and Harold Rizor, of Claysville.

They reportedly smuggled wine to another prisoner last Saturday.

Judge Denies New Hearing For Prisoner

John DeSimone, who has been confined to Western State Penitentiary for almost 16 years in connection with a robbery at a state liquor store in Republic in July, 1940, has been denied a petition to obtain another court hearing.

The sentencing jurist, Judge S. John Morrow, of Fayette County, yesterday dismissed the petition written in the convict's own handwriting.

The action was directed against Angello C. Cavelli, warden of the penitentiary near Pittsburgh.

DeSimone, together with Al Bobnic and Ernie Ford, were nabbed by state police after the robbery at the state store. On Sept. 4, 1940, the defendants were sentenced to the penitentiary for a minimum of 7½ years to 20 years.

The petition presented by DeSimone in his repeated moves to get a rehearing contends the court erred in considering integration of the suspects during questioning by police and that the officers offered perjured testimony.

DeSimone's application for a writ was filed yesterday in the offices of Prothonotary John J. Brady at the order of the court.

Library Board Rejects Bid on Razing of Site

Directors of the Monessen Civic Library Association yesterday decided to reject the one bid received for the removal of three old buildings in the 300 block of Donner Ave.

The Library acquired the property for the purpose of erecting a new building and advertised for bids to clear the site.

When only one bid was received, the directors voted to reject it and allow the buildings to stand temporarily. Plans for the new building are still incomplete.

Miss Vivian L. Drake, who took charge of the Library yesterday as librarian, attended a board meeting for the first time and was welcomed by President Charles C. Throop.

Throop announced that the annual meeting of the Library Association will be held in the Library May 14 at 5 p. m. Proxies have been mailed to all members.

Applications for School Positions

Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of Monessen public schools, yesterday announced the following persons have applied for positions in the school district:

Mrs. Frances Varega, Monessen, cafeteria worker; Albert William Zema, Fayette City, secondary mathematics; Patricia Ann Tippet, of McClellandtown, secondary civics, history and sociology; Mercedes Suarez, of Monongahela, elementary grades, and Mrs. Lorraine Waite, of Canton, Ohio, secondary English and history.

McCarthy Reported Still 'Serious'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) remained in "serious" condition at nearby Bethesda Naval Hospital but his temperature had returned to normal, the hospital reported Wednesday night.

McCarthy, taken ill Sunday with acute hepatitis, had a "slightly elevated temperature" earlier in the day. The evening report said the senator's condition "remains essentially the same, his condition remains serious."

Steel Industry Rings Up First Quarter Records

By CLYDE H. FARNSWORTH

NEW YORK (UP)—America's steel industry in the first quarter of 1957 rang up new records in sales and earnings for any similar period, and officials are optimistic about the year as a whole, a United Press survey showed today.

Sales of the eight largest steel producers, which turn out five of every seven tons produced in the nation, ran more than 200 million dollars higher in the first quarter of 1957 than a year ago and net income was nearly 20 million dollars higher, the survey indicated.

Each of the top eight companies had higher sales volume, and five out of the eight had higher earnings. Sales reflected both more business and the $8.50 a ton price increase that went into effect last August. Earnings mirrored cost reduction factors such as improved machinery.

Three Billion Sales

The eight companies included in the survey — U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., National Steel Corp., Armco Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Co. — had total sales of $3,171,752,408.

This volume compared with $2,956,799,895 in the corresponding 1956 quarter when furnaces were carrying over some of the red hot momentum from the 1955 boom and inventories were being built up.

Total net income of the eight companies amounted to $263,991,819, compared with $245,716,094 a year ago.

Bethlehem had the sharpest rise in both sales and earnings, followed by U.S. Steel.

J&L Had Decline

The three companies that suffered a decline in earnings were Jones & Laughlin, National and Armco.

Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel, said production for the full year would be "good" but wouldn't top the 117 million tons record of 1955.

Blough predicted production this year would be about the same as the 115 million tons poduced in 1955 "give or take a few percentage points."

Blough said his company's production will decline in the third quarter from the 90 per cent of capacity operations expected in the second quarter and operations may pick up "slightly" in the fourth quarter.

Claims Protest Good for Union

IRWIN, Pa. (UP) — The United Steel Workers dues protest movement was a good thing for the union, according to a USW district director.

William J. Hart, director of District 19, told 500 members of the Dues Protest Committee Wednesday night the revolt pointed up to the leaders the need for a change in policy.

Hart was the principal speaker a victory dinner for Paul J. Hilbert, the only protest candidate to win a post in the USW's recent elections.

Special Mideast Mission Called

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has ordered Ambassador James P. Richards to wind up his special mission to the Middle East and return to Washington as soon as feasible, the State Department announced today.

Department Press Officer Lincoln White said the President wants Richards on hand to confer with him on preparation of new foreign aid legislation. White said Richards expects to arrive in Washington next Wednesday in time to attend a bi-partisan meeting of congressional leaders at the White Huse n the aid prgram the following day.

Foot Fits Shoe; Gets 62-Day Jail Sentence

A 20-year-old youth, Delbert Arnold, felt anything but like Cinderella yesterday when he was handed 62 days in jail because his foot fitted a shoe.

Arnold, of near Uniontown, lost the ill-fated shoe early Tuesday while attempting to elude police in a traffic chase where speeds exceeded 100 miles per hour.

Justice of the Peace John M. Jennings levied $155 in fines and when the youth said he could not pay he was committed to Fayette County Jail for 62 days — 56 days to cover the fines and five days to cover the costs.

Arnold pulled a car into a gas station early Tuesday and pulled out in such a hurry after getting the gas that he forgot to pay the attendant $6.25. The attendant said his arm was wrenched while he was putting the gas cap on the car as Arnold pulled away.

The attendant, Edward Roskovitch, notified Brownsville police who spotted Arnold's car and gave chase. Police pursued the car for nine miles to Bentleyville at speeds over 100 miles per hour.

At Bentleyville, Arnold lost control of the car and demolished it against a culvert.

Arnold escaped behind a row of houses and officers lost him. A check of the wrecked auto revealed that Arnold had lost a shoe and police also found a photograph of Arnold which Roskovitch identified as the man who pulled away from his station without paying for the gas. The car's license number revealed that the car belonged to Arnold's brother, Robert, 24.

After the Beallsville accident, Delbert Arnold reportedly stole a car and returned to Brownsville where he abandoned it. He then is said to have taken a panel truck which is still missing.

Arnold denied that he had stopped for gasoline but he was identified by Roskovitch.

Before Squire Jennings, Arnold was ordered to pay fines or serve time on five traffic violations. Arnold was picked up when he and his brother Robert appeared at the state police barracks to report that Robert's car had been stolen.

Leader Considers Scholarship Aid Plan His 'Most Important'

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader reminded 1,800 Allegheny County Democrats, assembled here for a Jefferson Day dinner Wednesday night he considers his scholarship aid plan "the most important single piece of legislation" before the Legislature.

"The greatest thing that can be done for industrial government in Pennsylvania is to train our young people to fit into the technological needs of the times," the governor said.

His scholarship plan, which is meeting opposition from Republican legislators in the General Assembly, provides for state-paid scholarships to colleges and universities, plus construction of junior colleges and a fund from which to lend deserving students financial aid.

The party members, who paid $10 a plate, generated enthusiasm for the November election campaign in Allegheny County with Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence and other local leaders warning against complacency.

Lawrence, a candidate for nomination to a fourth term, declared "We will come up with a real thumping Democratic majority in November."

Coroner William D. McClelland, reminding that the GOP took a 67,000 majority for President Eisenhower last fall, said "We can't be lulled into thinking the mayor and council candidates can carry the whole county ticket."

McLeod Approved As Ambassador

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today voted 9-6 to approve the controversial nomination of Scott McLeod as ambassador to Ireland.

Six Democrats voted against the State Department security chief, according to members who left the closed door session early.

McLeod was supported by all seven Republican committee members and Democratic Senators Mike Mansfield (Mont.) and Russel B. Long (La.), it was reported.

has not indicated what financial source could be tapped for such an appropriation currently although House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson said the measure would be reported from the House Appropriations Committee "shortly."

—Permanent refund to farmers of 100 per cent of taxes paid on gasoline used for agricultural purposes and expansion of Pennsylvania State University facilities for farm aid.

—Emphasis on modern scientific methods for improvement of highway safety.

—Equal property rights for women.

—A Korean War bonus.

—Lowering of the voting age to 18.

Permission for absentee voting.

—Prohibition of deficit appropriations.

—Annual sessions of the Legislature.

—Amendment of the state Constitution to make the office of state attorney general elective.

—Strengthening of the structure of the Board of Pardons.

—Appropriation of at least 30 million dollars annually to municipalities for local road construction.

—Auditing of all state funds by the state auditor general.

Senate action slowed Wednesday after its lengthy Tuesday session which witnessed passage of the proposed horse racing referendum and the reporting of 60 bills from committee.

Two more proposed constitutional amendments reached the floor —making the office of attorney general elective and abolition of the Department of Internal Affairs.

Second Victim In Explosion at Clairton Works

PITTSBURGH (UP)—An explosion at U.S. Steel Corporation's Clairton Works has claimed a second victim.

Charles Byard, 56, Dravosburg, Pa., died Wednesday at West Penn Hospital of body burns suffered in the blast Tuesday. Killed almost instantly was Leo Scott, 37, Library, Pa. an employe of a contracting firm doing work in the plant.

In addition to the fatalities, 22 persons were injured and taken to district hospitals. Seven remain hospitalized in serious condition.

The explosion was touched off when a crane boom buckled and dropped a heavy casting on two gas lines. Scott was operating the crane. Byard was a U.S. Steel general foreman.

Plane Crashes During Refueling; Three Are Saved

PITTSBURG, Tex. (UP)—An Air Force RB47 reconnaisance plane went out of control and crashed during a refueling operation in flight near Pittsburg Wednesday night.

Three of the plane's crew parachuted to safety. Officials believed a fourth airman also parachuted, but he had not been found.

Maj. Lewis P. Gaby, public information officer at Little Rock Air Force Base, where the plane was stationed, said turbulent air apparently caused the RB47 to lose the fuel line from a KC97 aerial tanker. It went into a spin and crashed.

The three crewmen who were found safe were identified as Maj. Ed Dvorak, 37, of Muskogee, Okla.; Maj. Russell G. Corvey, 34, Kirkwood, Mo., and Capt. Frank E. Cox, 33, Geneva, Ohio.

The missing man was not identified.

The plane struck on a farm near Pittsburg, which is about 125 miles northeast of Dallas, and fragments of it gouged craters 15 feet deep in the ground.

Testimonial for Hudock

Pennsylvania State Police of the First Squadron will join in a tribute to their former commander at a dinner at Twin Coaches, Monday, May 13.

Some 1,000 officials, State Police and friends will honor Andrew J. Hudock, former commander of the five Troop area, comprised of Troop "A", Greensburg; Troop "B", Washington; Troop "C", Punxsutawney; Troop "D", Butler; and Troop 'E", Erie, Pennsylvania.

Major Hudock recently retired from the Pennsylvania State Police when he was appointed mayor of Greensburg, where he resides with his wife and five children.

The major, who began his career at the Greensburg barracks 39 years ago, was promoted through the ranks to the grade of Major, the rating he held before his retirement, and which carried with it command of the 23 county area.

David Olbum, councilman from Pittsburgh, will be the principal speaker for the affair, with George C. Lowe, safety director of the Atlantic Refining Co., Philadelphia, master of ceremonies. The Rev. William G. Ryan, president, Seton Hill College, Greensburg, will offer the invocation, and Rev. Chester L. Weems, Christ Episcopal Church, Greensburg, will offer the benediction.

An invitation is extended to all friends of Hudock to attend. Reservations can be made through Capt. Frank L. Garhow, chairman Troop B-1 Pennsylvania State Police at Washington, or by contacting any member of the State Police.

Sale of Wheeling Downs Expected for Tax Claim

Will Use Money To Pay Debt Against Lias

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UP)—The government apparently will sell Wheeling Downs race track with the least possible delay to satisfy most, and possibly all, of a two million dollar tax claim against owner William G. (Big Bill) Lias.

At a meeting with Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins and attorneys for Lias here Wednesday, government representatives asked that the scenic track on Wheeling Island be put up for immediate sale. Watkins agreed that he hoped it could be sold in the near future.

The judge set a May 13 deadline for Lias' attorneys to file an answer to the government motion, with hearing on the motion set for the same date. It will be held at Wheeling.

Attending Wednesday's conference here were John Laughlin of Pittsburgh, chief counsel for Lias, and an assistant George Caravacios of Wheeling; Homer Miller, an assistant U.S. attorney general, and Albert Morgan, U.S. attorney for the Northern District of West Virginia.

Appeal Rejected

Watkins called the session just 10 days after the U. S. Supreme Court turned down Lias' appeal for review of a Tax Court determination that he owes two million dollars in back income taxes and penalties for the years 1942-48.

"— consider it important to have an immediate sale of Wheeling Downs," Watkins said. "If it can be sold right away, the price will likely be higher than later in the year because the purchaser can take advantage of the summer racing meet authorized by the state.'

The state Racing Commission has granted Wheeling Downs a 59-day meet to begin July 10.

Watkins said if the track is not sold, the court may choose not to operate the track for the meet "and someone would be out some money.' The judge refused to give sanction to the running of a spring meet this year at Wheeling Downs.

Mosquitoes Are Hungrier at Night

MIAMI BEACH (UP)—If you think mosquitoes get more bloodthirsty at night, you're right.

Newly hatched salt marsh mosquitoes begin their hunt for blood 10 minutes after sunset, Dr. Maurice W. Provost, director of the Entomological Research Center at Vero Beach, said Wednesday.

This knowledge, he told the convention of the Florida Anti-Mosquito and American Mosquito Control Associations, may be the key to much more effective mosquito control.

New Pastor Is Named for St. Luke Church

The Rev. Mathias N. Joensuu formally assumed duties as pastor of St. Luke Lutheran Church yesterday and will be installed to his pastorate on Sunday evening at 7:30 by the Rev. O. Maki, of New Castle.

The Rev. Mr. Joensuu came here from Hibbing, Minn., where he served as pastor of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church for more than five years. He was born in Ripley, Mich. in 1907 and was graduated from Dollar Bay High School in Michigan and from Suomi College and Theological Seminary, Hancock, Mich., in 1931.

He served his first pastorate in Lead in the Black Hills of South Dakota and subsequently held charges in Harrison, Maine; Trout Creek, Mich. and Los Angeles, Cal. While in Los Angeles he did graduate work at the University of Southern California.

Rev. Mr. Joensuu served as an army chaplain for three and a half years in the Southwest Pacific and on Atlantic transport duty. He and his wife are now occupying the St. Luke parsonage at 423 Reed Ave.

Carroll Twp. Pair Held in Liquor Raid

Joseph Manfredi, 56, and his 22-year old daughter, Norma, of R. D. 2, Finleyville, Carroll Twp., were arrested yesterday by federal liquor agents on charges of making moonshine liquor.

The father and daughter waived a hearing before a U. S. commissioner in Pittsburgh and chose to have their case brought before a grand jury.

Reports said the agents found 1,200 pounds of sugar and a strong odor of mash when they raided the Manfredi home. They said they found three five-gallon containers of illegal liquor in an auto registered in Miss Manfredi's name.

Paul Colledge, reported to be Manfredi's assistant, also was placed under arrest in the early morning raid.

Manfredi was arrested last July during a raid by state liquor control and U. S. Treasury agents on his home. The agents said they found a still, large quantities of untaxed whiskey and ingredients for making the whisky.

In mid - December Manfredi pleaded guilty before Judge David H. Weiner, of Washington County, to the bootlegging charges and was sentenced to 60 days on parole and a $300 fine.

The sentence by Judge Weiner was revoked by Judge Roy I. Carson, who based the revocation of sentence on the usual county practice of having all pleaders appear before the presiding judge in the particular term of court. Judge Carson presided during the November term.

Judge Carson, on December 26, sentenced Manfredi to a year in jail and a fine of $1,600. On January 31 — 36 days later — Manfredi was placed on parole by Judge Carson.

The parole petition said that Manfredi's wife was seriously ill and had been under a doctor's care for two years. The physician verified the statement and said her condition required the constant care and attention of Manfredi.

K of C to Hold First Degree On Wednesday

Plans were made for a first degree to be held by Monessen Council Knights of Columbus next Wednesday evening in the council rooms when the Council met last night with Grand Knight Louis J. Smith in charge.

Reports were given by Julius Treater and tentative plans were made by the Retreat Club for the annual retreat to be held at St. Vincent College in August.

Nomination of officers was scheduled for the May 15 meeting and an officers meeting was announced for next Tuesday at 9 p. m. to plan for the annual graduation mass and breakfast for Catholic graduates. The event is scheduled for St. Cajetan R. C. Church.

Smith and Henry V. D'Alonzo will attend the 59th annual convention, which will be in session May 4-7 in Harrisburg at the Penn Harris hotel.

Arthur Trilli, who has been hospitalized, was welcomed back to the council and Pvt. Sam Icovangelo, who is home on leave from the U. S. Army, gave a brief talk.

Trilli won the special award and luncheon was served.

Benson Says Present Price Support Laws Are Obsolete

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said today that present production control and price support laws for farm products are obsolete and "are not working."

He said it is the "responsibility of Congress" to do something about it.

While pointing out failures of present law, Benson did not come forward with a new farm program of his own. But he offered to counsel with Congress in providing remedial legislation.

His comments were contained in a 2,200-word letter to Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee. The letter was supplemented by a 3,000-word department statement titled "need for reappraisal of farm price support and production control programs."

The secretary said the soil bank and the surplus disposal programs are the "two biggest and most expensive operations in the history of agriculture."

Aggravate Marketing Problems

He said present price-support levels—90 to 75 per cent of parity—"have aggravated farmers' marketing problems" and indicated that the present 75 per cent price support floor should be junked.

The principle of flexible price supports—in the 90 to 75 range—is the backbone of the Benson-sponsored farm law adopted in 1954.

The cost of farm programs from fiscal 1932 through fiscal 1956 totaled $11,753,700,000, Benson said. He said this "heavy" expenditure has made "little or no contribution to the problem of low-income farmers, in whose name farm programs are frequently defended."

A breakdown showed these total costs:

For the basic commodities of corn, cotton, peanuts, rice, tobacco, and wheat, $6,453,500,000.

For the designated non-basic commodities of dairy products, potatoes, and wool, $2,295,400,000.

For remaining non-basic commodities including eggs, flaxseed, sugar, honey, and tung nuts, $2,374,600,000.

For unallocable costs, $630,200,000.

Benson said cost for fiscal 1956 alone was $1,936,100,000. This included $820,800,000 for basic crops, $562,100,000 for designated nonbasics; $365,000,000 for other nonbasics; and $188,200,000 unallocable costs.

Makes Three Points

The secretary made three points in his letter to Ellender:

1. Controls are not effective in reducing overall agricultural production, despite the severe restrictions they impose on farmers' freedom to produce and market.

2. Agricultural products are likely to continue to be abundant. Under such conditions they cannot be successfully priced as if they were scarce.

3. The present legal formulas governing acreage allotments and price supports are proving obsolete.

He said the fact that production per farm worker has doubled in the last 15 years "creates a new dimension in farm policy and makes it virtually impossible to curtail agricultural output with the type of controls acceptable in our society."

B52 Bomber Worth Weight in Silver

WASHINGTON (UP)—The B52 bomber is worth three times its weight in silver.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson made the comparison in recent testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee published today.

Cost of the B52 is listed as eight million dollars.

Wilson said some items the Defense Department buys seem even more expensive, pound for pound. 'Some of them seem as if they were made out of gold." he said.

Soul-searching on Gambling Issue

THE QUESTION as to whether the people of Pennsylvania should or should not be asked in a referendum what they think about legalizing various forms of gambling obviously is causing some soul-searching in Harrisburg. And Governor Leader himself appears to be one of the deeper searchers.

The state Senate has passed a bill, by a bare majority of 26-22, which provides for a popular vote on the question of legalizing betting on horse racing. And that vote was taken under a threat by Governor Leader that he would veto such legislation if it comes to him.

The Governor's position caused considerable consternation among the members of his own Democratic party in the Senate. Mr. Leader has said only recently that he "would not stand in the way of the people" voting on the question of gambling.

But after what he described as "deep and intensive consideration" (another phrase meaning soul-searching), the Governor said he had decided that to approve a referendum would "represent a side-stepping of responsibility" on his part.

"I am opposed to gambling," he said. "I will keep on being opposed to gambling. Therefore, I am opposed to this referendum."

The Daily Independent doesn't quite follow Mr. Leader's reasoning although we respect his moral courage. We are opposed to gambling, too, legal or illegal and whether it is betting on horse races or church bingo. But as to whether there should be a change in the laws of Pennsylvania dealing with this subject — we see no reason why the people of Pennsylvania should not decide this question with their ballots.

* * *

AT ANY RATE, Governor Leader's announcement before the Senate vote was quite distressing to some of his fellow Democrats, notably to Sen. John H. Dent, of Westmoreland County, the party leader in the Senate.

Senator Dent, who has long advocated legalizing horse-race betting and is one of the sponsors of the present bill, accused the Governor of "pulling the rug" from under him and of interfering improperly with the deliberations of the legislature. Since Mr. Dent is ordinarily a faithful advocate of the Governor's policies, his reaction in this case indicates the fervor with which he supports race-betting.

The vote showed bi-partisan support for the bill — 8 Republicans joining 18 of the 21 Democrats present to form the bare constitutional majority of 26.

The bill now goes to the House, which is already considering proposals to legalize other forms of gambling in addition to horse-betting.

The soul-searching in Harrisburg isn't over.

The School Budget

AS EXPECTED, the Monessen School District has proposed a budget for next year which the taxpayers are going to find quite expensive to finance.

As introduced Tuesday evening, the budget calls for total expenditures of $1,122,083, an increase of over $132,000 above the estimates for the current year. If adopted, this will be the first million-dollar school budget in a "normal" year. (The 1951-52 budget also went over a million dollars due to the construction of the new Senior High School.)

To meet the increased expenses, the School Board is proposing an increase in the real estate tax rate of three mills, which must be one of the largest tax increases in Monessen's history.

There is a great deal of food for thought and discussion in the school budget and about school finances generally. We expect to address ourselves to the subject again before the budget and tax rate are finally adopted on May [illegible], and our readers are invited to do likewise.

As a beginning, however, it should be noted that of the $132,000 increase, over $77,000 is for higher teaching salaries, most of them mandated by state law. And since it has been [illegible] accepted that teachers are underpaid, there can hardly be much surprise when the taxpayers are called upon to meet the deficit.

Somehow or other a slate of candidates in a primary campaign has always reminded us of a string of elephants at the circus. You know, there's one up front and the others tagging along, each hanging on with his trunk to the tail of the one ahead. It looks real clever — for elephants.

Merry-Go-Round—

Stock 'Leak' Traced to Bridges' Office

(Ed. note—While Drew Pearson is on a newsgathering trip outside Washington, his associate, Jack Anderson, writes the Merry-Go-Round.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Senate probe of the Northeast Airlines stock scandal has uncovered tracks pointing to Sen. Styles Bridges' office (R., N. H.), yet the chief investigator now following those tracks is Bridges' political appointee.

He is able, amiable Don O'Donnell of Manchester, N. H., who was brought to Washington by the man he is now supposed to be investigating. He has already let one key figure in the investigation, whose testimony might embarass Bridges, take off for South America on the eve of the Senate hearings.

O'Donnell's job is to find who leaked word prematurely last August that the Civil Aeronautics Board had granted Northeast the profitable New York-Miami route. The morning after the secret CAB vote, insiders made a killing in Northeast stock.

Among those who rushed out to buy stock before it jumped from 9.15 to 12.50 a share were three of Bridges' aides — Chester Wiggin, Tom Shannon and Dick Eddy. They made modest purchases through the Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis brokerage firm.

Bigger windfalls went to two other Bridges henchmen, Lowell Mayberry of Boston and Milt Shapiro of Concord, N. H., who got a free ride on the stock market the same morning. Shapiro reportedly bought 500 shares early in the morning while the price was still rock bottom.

How Bridges' office got the advance tip hasn't been positively proved. It may be significant, however, that another Bridges man was present when the CAB reached its secret decision. He is the CAB's chief investigator, Jimmy Anton, who formerly worked for Bridges on Capitol Hill.

Skips Country

Though Anton's testimony is considered important, O'Donnell gave him permission to take a two-week junket to South America while the hearings are going on. Anton was careful to get O'Donnell's okay before leaving the country.

Sources close to the investigation charge that O'Donnell is trying to swing the spotlight away from Bridges and focus on others who may also have had inside information. For example, Larry Henderson represented a New England combine that was trying to buy millionaire Floyd Odlum's controlling interest in Northeast. The morning of the stock-market leak, Henderson made three long-distance calls to New England. One who was called, Forrester Clark of Boston, bought stock.

Robert Oliver, an attorney for Delta Airlines, also made several phone calls to Georgia. At least six Atlanta, Ga., speculators cashed in on Northeast stock, including Georgia's GOP boss, Robert Snodgrass.

O'Donnell denied to this column that he was trying to protect anyone. It will be interesting to see, however, how deep he delves into Bridges' office.

NOTE — Biggest benefactor from the CAB decision, of course, was Northeast's principal stockholder, Floyd Odlum. The CAB staff charged he had bouiht controlling interest in Northeast in order to milk the company. But the CAB ignored the charge, then added to Odlum's profits by awarding Northeast the lush New York-Miami run. Perhpas the CAB was influenced by the fact that Odlum, once a big Democratic contributor, switched his purse to the Republicans.

Another Israeli Attack?

Headlines and Footnotes — Central Intelligence has received terse word from the Middle East that Israel may attack Egypt again this month. The Israelis are alarmed over the Egyptian military build-up, particularly the arrival of 150 MIG-17 fighters with Russian pilots to fly them. Israeli leaders have about decided to hit again before they get hit, warn intelligence reports . . . Stern, aloof Adm. Arthur Radford, the Joint Chiefs' chairman, is furious at Secretary of State Dulles for not consulting with him on Middle East decisions. Radford used to drop over to the State Department often for private luncheon conferences with Dulles. But lately Dulles has been taking up Middle East moves directly with the President, bypassing both the Defense Department and National Security Council . . . The Navy has confirmed to congressmen this column's report that Soviet subs are lying off the Florida coast, spying on our guided-missile tests. . . . Ambassador to Nicaragua Tom Whelan, sometimes criticized for not using the striped-pants approach, has survived the diplomatic shakeup. He persuaded Texas oil millionaire Clint Murchison to invest in Nicaragua (everything from an [illegible] plant to a posh hotel).

NEW WAR FEARS

From Washington—

Union Welfare And Political Funds

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

There is growing sentiment in Congress for some legislative action to deal with two aspects of the far-ranging power of union leaders.

Mr. Drummond

This sentiment springs largely from the Senate racketeering and related investigations which showed, among other things, how easy it was for Teamster President Dave Beck to reach, uninvited, into the pockets of his union membership and lift $100,000, now and then, to use for unexplained purposes without the members knowing when or whether these "touches" were ever returned.

There are two objectives which the sponsors of new legislation have in view.

One is to protect the vast and mounting union welfare funds from being dissipated or mismanaged.

The other is to make sure that the political funds of union members are used in accordance with the wishes of the contributors, not merely in accordance with the wishes of the union leaders.

75 Million Covered

Few, I suspect, appreciate the magnitude of the union welfare funds, the joint labor-management funds and the management funds. Already more than 75.000.000.000 persons are directly or indirectly covered by these employe pension and welfare programs. The funded reserves total $20 and $25 billion and every year contributions add up to nearly $7 billion. The Securities and Exchange Commission reports that these reserves make up the largest single source of equity capital.

To safeguard these huge welfare funds Congress now has before it measures to require the registration and disclosure of all essential financial and management facts to the S. E. C. and to limit investment to those securities permissible to insurance companies in the District of Columbia.

These protections have an excellent chance of being passed at this session.

A more controversial measure concerns the closer regulation of union political activity. Despite the fact that the Democrats would apparently stand to lose more than the Republicans by such regulation, it has considerable Democratic support.

Labor Backs Democrats

An analysis by the "Congressional Quarterly," for example, shows that the 52 Congressional districts where more than 60 per cent of the workers are in blue collar jobs, elected 41 Democrats and only 11 Republicans last year — a 30-seat margin that just about equals the Democratic House majority.

Democratic candidates generally received most of the $2,020,123 contributed by labor. A Senate report says that almost all of it was used "in behalf of Democratic candidates. This $2,000,000 figure includes only the money raised by voluntary subscriptions from union members. It does not include any dues-supported "political education" funds.

Now, obviously, there should be no discriminatory restrictions placed upon union political activity. The rules which govern the political contributions of corporate business should also govern corporate labor, that is, political contributions should be made only by individuals, whether businessmen or workers, not out of company funds or union dues.

How it shouldn't be done was revealed by Frank W. Brewster, president of the Western Conference of Teamsters, who testified that Local 174 in Seattle made political contributions of $99,999.65 from 1950 to 1953 from dues paid for other purposes by its 6,500 members. Much of it was handed out in cash under the counter.

It has apparently never occured to Mr. Brewster that it should matter one way or the other which candidates the union members want their money to support.

He was asked by one senator: "Do you believe it is right to make it necessary for a man, in order to earn a living for his family, to contribute by compulsion to the election of an official whom he prefers personally to defeat?"

Mr. Brewster first replied: "Yes, I think so." Later he added that "I never looked at it that way and I am goingt o have to do some thinking about it". Finally he remarked: "I am getting a liberal education, to say the least. . . . This is a new thing to me."

This oes not mean that the unions should not obtain money from its members for campaign purposes. What is sought is to make sure that funds are used for candidates whom the contributors want to support.

The Lighter Side—

Night Club Nudity Is Different in France

By DOC QUIGG

THE LIDO, Paris (UP) — The most striking difference between this nightspot, one of the most prominent in France, and any nightclub in the United States is the matter of dress on the part of chorus girls.

Both countries go in for patches of bare skin, but not in the same places or dimensions. Nightclub nudism in America is by the acre. In France, it is frugal. The French, while skimping on the product, exercise what they obviously regard as canny selectivity.

Nobody asked my opinion, but if they did I would say I do not regard nudity as beauty, in either country—or in the islands of the South Seas, either. However, the French have a way with it.

In general, the French chorines seem seven or eight times as heavily clothed as their hippy counterparts in the United States. They are elaborately costumed in many hues and layers of ruffles, billowing skirts, spewing feathers, gewgaws sprouting from the head, and full length sleeves and stockings.

Look Warm, Cozy

Thus buttoned against the cold blasts of air conditioning that whiff about the premises, they look comfortably warm and cozy compared with the bare and mayhap goose-pimply complexions of their American counterparts.

However, there is one region in which the French girls have no protection against the cold. They are absolutely bare-faced from the forehead down to the stomach. On the stage with the rest of the anatomy heavily clothed, the effect of this get-up is about the same as meeting an oncoming automobile on a dark highway at night. You know the body is there but all you can see is the headlights.

The show at this barn-big nightery was long and varied, a sort of extended and glorified edition of the Ed Sullivan Show. The acts ranged from ice ballet to a swimming pool scene, juggling to Swiss bell-ringing, Jazz to minstrel singing.

An Eye for Tourists

The title of the show, as near as I could make out, was "C'est Magnifique" and, apparently as a concession to the American tourist trade, one of the subtitles read: "Avec Les Nitwits."

There were several funny acts, at least one of which must have been put on by the nitwits. The real humorous bit, however, was not intended to be such. It was the minstrel show routine in which everybody broke into a French-accent version of "Waitin' For The Robert E. Lee." You've got to see it in France to appreciate it.

"How did you like the show?" I asked a French lady in attendance.

"Sensas," she replied. It developed the sensas (pronounced sahnsahs) is French slang for sensational—and you may have the word free of charge, if you can do anything with it.

Soviet Anger Proving U. S. Policies Effective

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia's anger over developments in the Middle East indicates clearly that American policy is paying off.

Mr. McCann

Pravda, the newspaper organ of the Russian Communist Party, complained on Sunday that the United States is using "the law of the fist" in its dealings with Arab countries.

The Soviet Foreign Office followed up on Monday by accusing the United States of "aggravating" the Middle Eastern situation by "gross interference." In its special statement, the Foreign Ministry said that the United States will be responsible for "grave consequences" that may develop.

What all this means is that young King Hussein of Jordan has overcome his pro-Russian, pro-Egyptian, anti-Western political enemies who threatened to oust him from his throne.

Nobody can blame the Soviet leaders for being extremely displeased.

Leftists Meet Challenge

It had become evident several weeks ago that the leftists in Jordan were being challenged by the pro-Western king and political leaders loyal to him.

The fight broke into the open when pro-Soviet Premier Suleiman Nabulsi tried to enter into diplomatic relations with Russia. A crisis developed.

Hussein dismissed Nabulsi. Nabulsi organized riots in Amman, the capital, and other cities. The pro-Russian Egyptian and Syrian governments encouraged Nabulsi. Russia egged on Egypt and Syria.

At a critical time, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles announced that they regarded the independence and integrity of Jordan as vital.

Next day the President sent the United States 6th Fleet, based on the Mediterranean, to the Middle East. This action was taken, in the first application of the new Eisenhower Doctrine, on the ground that Jordan was threatened by the forces of the international Communism.

It was then made known to King Hussein that the United States was ready to give him 10 million dollars in financial aid.

All this constituted notice to Russia that it would be smart to watch its step in its determined program of meddling in Middle Eastern affairs. It also constituted a warning to Egypt, Syria — and Israel—not to try to carve up Jordan.

Saud Supports Hussein

In addition to these dramatic developments, there was another one of great importance. This was that King Saud of Saudi Arabia came to the support of King Hussein, with whom his relations were long bad, against Jordan's internal and external enemies.

There can be little doubt that Saud's firm stand marked another payoff for American Middle Eastern policy.

There was considerable opposition in the United States to President Eisenhower's invitation to Saud to visit the United States in January.

But the result of Saud's visit was that the President and Dulles convinced him that the Eisenhower Doctrine against Communist aggression in the Middle East was a good thing.

It may well be asked whether, had Saud not been invited to Washington, Russia would now be so unhappy over the Middle Eastern outlook.

National Affairs—

GOP Critics Blaming Larson and Brundage

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP)—When Republican critics of the administration look around for scapegoats to blame for their internal party troubles, two names are apt to be heard.

Mr. Lahr

They are Arthur Larson, director of the U. S. Information Agency, and Percival F. Brundage, director of the Bureau of the Budget.

Larson is regarded as the inventor of "modern" or "new" Republicanism, which has caused a backlash from GOP conservatives. These critics and some that are not so conservative want to be identified as just Republicans, with no descriptions attached.

Brundage Key Adviser

Brundage's job makes him President Eisenhower's chief adviser in dealing with the federal budget, which the administration has set at a peacetime record of nearly 72 billion dollars for the next fiscal year.

To many people modern Republicanism and a big budget are the same thing. Hence Larson and Brundage have become prime whipping boys of Republicans who are unhappy at the way things are going.

Larson was undersecretary of labor when he wrote the book. "A Republican Looks At His Party," which helped make him the philosopher of modern Republicanism and a favorite of President Eisenhower. He was a law school professor and dean before he entered government.

The President has talked freely about keeping the GOP up to date, but Larson has become the symbol of what his critics regard as a party-splitting movement. Yet in a recent speech he described "new Republicanism" as "simply Republicanism as it has adapted itself under President Eisenhower's leadership to mid-20th Century responsibilities."

Budget Director's Background

Brundage became budget director 13 months ago after two years as deputy director under the late Rowland Hughes. He previously had been associated with a large accounting firm.

The Budget Bureau asked Congress last year for increased funds to hire more Budget Bureau employes to hold down the size of the budget. House Appropriations Committee members recently reminded Brundage of this request and berated him because the budget was going up instead of down.

Toughness is supposed to be a basic requirement for a budget director. Government bureaus ask for more money than their department heads will allow and the department heads ask for more than the Budget Bureau will allow. Brundage's critics believe he wasn't tough enough this year.

Clare McNabb Is Wed at Beaver

Clare McNabb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. McNabb, of McKee Way, Monessen, became the bride of Harry Warren Smith in a ceremony solemnized in the Sts. Peter and Paul R. C. Church of Beaver on Saturday morning, April 27, at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Harry Warren Smith

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Smith, of Beaver.

The Rev. Henry Sangl, assistant church pastor, heard the exchange of vows before an altar banked with cibotium ferns and lilies. Charlotte Kennedy, of Beaver, was organist.

Mr. McNabb gave his daughter in marriage and for her attire she selected a ballerina length gown of point d'esprit styled with a portrait neckline, a fitted bodice and long sleeves. A scalloped hemline enhanced the full skirt. A matching juliet cap held her elbow length veil of silk illusion and she carried a white orchid and stephanotis bouquet in a cascade arrangement. She wore for her only jewelry, a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Sisters Attend

Mrs. Robert W. Harvey, of Rochester, N. Y., sister of the bride, was the matron of honor and Carolyn Sue Smith, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

Both wore gowns of mint green nylon tulle styled along similar lines to that worn by the bride. Scallops of valencia lace accented the hemline. They wore headbands of sequins and pearls to hold their brief veils. Mrs. Harvey carried a nosegay of orange delight rosebuds and Miss Smith carried yellow rosebuds.

Jean Louise Peterson, a niece of the bride, of Canonsburg, was the flower girl. She wore a miniature of the adult gowns with a matching headband and nosegay of yellow rosebuds.

Thomas P. Haffey, of Beaver, was Mr. Smith's best man and the ushers were William N. Todd, Jr., of Beaver and Valentine Condio, of Warren, who served with the bridegroom in the Marine Corps.

Wedding Luncheon

A luncheon was served to 175 guests at Maple Hall, New Brighton. A four tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table, which was decorated with daffodils and yellow candles.

Beaver Valley Four H Club girls were aides. They included Barbara Horton, of Aliquippa, Peggy and Charlotte Biksup, Sue and Sylvia Salinshick; Mary Lee Hobbs, of Kendall and Lea Jane Blank, of Wallrose.

Mrs. Smith was graduated from Monessen High School and Seton Hill College, Greensburg. She is employed by the Pennsylvania State University as an extension home economist in Beaver Valley and has been living in Beaver.

Mr. Smith was graduated from Beaver Area High School and Geneva College. He served with the Marine Corps and is now a member of the editorial staff of the Beaver Valley Times.

After a southern wedding trip the couple will reside at 145 Lincoln Ave., Beaver.

Helen A. Scullion Becomes Bride of Donald Backstrom

Ferns and gladiolus decorated the sanctuary of the Fayette City Methodist Church for the nuptial ceremony solemnized yesterday afternoon, May 1, at 2:30 o'clock uniting in marriage Helen A. Scullion and Donald Backstrom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Scullion, 220 Connellsville St., Fayette City and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Magdalene Backstrom, of West Newton.

The Rev. Harry W. Beveridge, church pastor, heard the exchange of the double ring vows.

Wedding Music

Mrs. James Stathers played a 15 minutes prelude of organ music and the wedding march to which the bridal party approached the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Clarence Young, and wore a street length gown of white lace over taffeta. The white satin trim below the bodice held a side spread of pleats and was accented with a dior bow. From her matching pillbox hat fell a shoulder length veil and she carried a white covered Bible topped with an arrangemnet of white gladiolus with a single white rose center.

Maid of honor was Norma Jean Roy, who wore a gown of pink chiffon fashioned with a cumberbund of deep rose. She wore elbow length gauntlets to match her gown and a pink headpiece. Her flowers were a cascade arrangement of pink roses.

Willard Backstrom, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Usher was James Stathers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Scullion chose a navy blue dress with white accessories with a corsage of pink camelias. Mrs. Backstrom, mother of the bridegroom, wore a slate blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Relatives and friends were received at a reception in the church social rooms immediately following the ceremony. A three tiered wedding cake centered the table, where refreshments were served buffet fashion. The bridal table was decorated with miniature bouquets of pink tulips and lilies of the valley.

Later in the day the couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. For traveling the bride chose a navy ensemble with white accessories. When they return the couple will reside with the bride's parents.

The new Mrs. Backstrom was graduated from Charleroi High School and Douglas School of Business. She is employed by the Charleroi office of the West Penn Power Co.

Auxiliary Is Formed for Boy Scout Troop

A Mother's Auxiliary has been formed to Monessen Boy Scout Troop 10 and a meeting of the group was held last night at the Hilltop Fire Station. The organization was formed to provide for a social program of activities for the Boy Scouts.

Officers named to head the group are Mrs. Mary Bartosik, president; Mrs. Mary Dropp, vice president; Mrs. Amelia Roberts, secretary; Mrs. Catherine Hornak, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Crynick and Mrs. Aninia Katsuleris, guards; Mrs. Gustina D'Astolfo, chaplain.

A meeting of the officers was planned for May 28 at the Hilltop Fire Station.

Plans are also underway to have a similar organization formed for the fathers of the scouts and anyone interested may call Salvatore Battalia, explorer adviser, at MUrray 4-4064.

Covered Dish Dinner Held by Evening Club

A covered dish dinner highlighted last night's meeting of the Evening Woman's Club held at the Civic Center. The committee in charge of the serving was composed of Mrs. Julia Furio, Margaret Russell, Eleanor Shutterly, Mary Breza, Rebecca Ragan and Leah Sneed.

During the business session which followed Lucille Kelly read several articles and amendments to the club constitution.

Donations were voted to the Civic Center, the Red Cross and the Midget League.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing games under the direction of Mrs. Eva Eisaman and Esther Johnson.

This was the final meeting of the year and new members were voted into the club.

District Governor Visits Local Quota Club, Conducts Installation of Officers

Miss Frances Gerber, governor of District 3 Quota International installed officers for the Monessen Quota Club following the serving of dinner last night in Johnson's Cape Cod room.

Assuming their duties for the new club year were Elizabeth Vivian, president; Dolly Lucas, first vice president; Ann Herron, second vice president; Barney Greco, secretary; Rose Paterline, treasurer. Installed as directors were Elizabeth Andriscovich, Lena Falbo, Dora Ranallo and Julia Mazur.

Miss Mazur as retiring president opened the meeting with the Club Collect and pledge of allegiance. Table decorations were in Quota colors, blue and white and the centerpiece was of white carnations and iris. The Quota emblem was also used in the appointments.

Quota Emblem

A silver Q on which was placed a pink carnation bouttonaire for each officer formed the background for the installation. Miss Gerber gave a talk in which she stressed the principles of Quota on an international, national and local basis.

Miss Gerber was presented with a cimbidium orchid corsage and a gift and after the installation she gave a talk concerning the international election.

Plans were announced for the District Fun Frolic to be held on Saturday and Sunday at the Summit Hotel near Uniontown. The club will be represented.

Invitations were extended from the Catholic Women's College Club to attend the annual Guest Night at St. Thomas Aquinas Church Hall in California and to visit the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital, when open house is held on May 12.

Business Session

Mrs. Vivian was in charge of the routine business discussion and Miss Mazur reported on the proposed sign which the Chamber of Commerce expects to erect at the entrances to the town. Quota is one of the organizations invited to place its emblem on the sign and the members voted to take the proper measures to cooperate.

A donation of $25 was voted to last year's fellowship student from abroad. Quota Clubs apart from their organizational obligations are cooperating to finance another year of study for this student in order that she may obtain her master's degree.

Mrs. Vivian will be the delegate to the Quota International Convention in Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mrs. Dolly Lucas was named alternate.

Cooperation was voted in the Post Prom party project and the secretary was instructed to send club greetings to a newly formed club at Ft. Lauderdale.

Plan Revue

The May 15 meeting scheduled as a "surprise party" will be a covered dish dinner at Mim Friedland's home and Lena Falbo will be chairman. A schedule of meetings for next year was discussed.

A report was given on the Food and Fashion revue, which the club will sponsor on May 9, at the High School auditorium in conjunction with the Peoples Natural Gas Co. There will also be a sale of homemade candy and cookies in the lobby at the school. Many special prizes and souvenirs will be given away to those attending.

E U B Women's Society Plans Tea Tomorrow

The Woman's Society of World Service of the Evangelical United Brethren Church will sponsor a mother - daughter tea tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the church.

Devotional leader for the program which will precede the tea will be Mrs. Edward Matty. After a piano prelude by Mary Jo Shepherd, Mrs. L. M. Crum, president of the group, will offer the evening prayer.

Two vocal solos will be presented, "Faith of Our Mothers," by Sonny Hopkins and "My Mother's Bible," by Roger Crum. The youth choir, directed by Eva Yadloski will sing "Mother's Prayers Have Followed Me."

Taking part in a playlet, "Mother and Daughter," will be mother, Mrs. Charles McVay; daughter, Cynthia Stapleton; Mary, mother of Jesus, Mrs. Joseph Callaway; Jairus' daughter, Patricia Treater.

The oldest mother and the youngest mother present will be honored.

Serving as ushers will be Mrs. Verner Beckman and Mrs. W. A. Moffat.

Committees are: tea table, Mrs. Gilbert Pender, chairman, Mrs. Dave Gash, Mrs. John Stark; program, Lillian Moffat and Mrs. Matty; invitation and publicity, Mrs. Verner Beckman and Mrs. W. A. Moffat.

Miami Interested in Bob Burns

Football scouts from the University of Miami have more than a passing interest in Robert Burns, the All-Big Six end at Monessen High last season. They were impressed by his play after viewing films of MHS games . . . Incidentally the southern bird dogs had another Greyhound in mind, but they shied away after looking over his grades. It's the same old story; too many athletes buckle down when it's too late . . . Soldiers at the Nike installation near Finleyville have offered their services to Monongahela's Little League as both managers and umpires. They've already formed an umpires group to handle all LL tussles in the community.

Dan (Boots) Salotti, Monessen's popular football-basketball official, limited his cage officiating to just one game a week last February. "Officials are bound to tire as the season wears on," reported Salotti. "By working just a game a week, I felt better and was not worn out by the time the playoffs rolled around." . . . Incidentally Salotti and Nick Jacobs drew rave notices for their work in the WPIAL title game between Sharon and McKeesport even though the contest concluded in a close one-point decision. Usually when games are that close, the officials get blamed for something or other.

Most City Baseballers Stay Home

So far, just four Monessen baseball products have definitely committed themselves to Mon Valley League teams other than the Ozarks. Nick Mahalko, Dean Cheesebrough and Walt Cieply will definitely play for Charleroi while Mel Mills will perform for Donora. As yet Mike Young is undecided about his sandlot future . . . By the way, the three Monessen lads at Charleroi are making quite an impression. The other day in a practice game, Cieply clouted a ball 450 feet on the fly . . . Charleroi will open its MVL campaign next Tuesday against New Eagle instead of Monday as originally scheduled. The game was moved back a day to avoid conflict with a high school tussle.

Reportedly Pitt would like to land West Newton High footballers Andy Kasic and Bud Morrison. Both youngsters are good looking prospects. Kasic recently underwent knee surgery which has corrected a hurt that kept him sidelined all during the past basketball campaign . . . The Philadelphia Phillies bonus pitcher Tommy Qualters, has apparently found himself at last. The other day, he worked eight scoreless innings for the Miami Marlins in the International League before being lifted for a pinch-hitter. Earlier he had hurled a 6-1 six-hitter.

Irwin Coach Predicts a Winner!

Irwin High basketball boss Lyman Stough has pulled the cardinal sin for coaches. He predicts flatly that his cagers should win the Section 17 title next season. To make matters worse, Stough says he'll probably use all juniors in his starting lineup. "The following season, we should be great," contends the soft-spoken Stough, whose honesty is over and beyond the call of duty . . . The Monessen Ozarks hope to secure the services of pitcher John Stetsko once he winds up his freshman year at Bethany College. Stetsko, noted for his baseball work, startled Bethany basketball coaches by winning a starting spot on the college quint the past campaign.

Sportsmen's Corner—

Leave Wildlife Right Where You Find It

During every spring and summer, many would-be humanitarians pick up cute little bunnies, fuzzy game bird "peeps" in the nest, or even fawn deer, though the law forbids such acts.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission again admonishes LEAVE WILDLIFE WHERE YOU FIND IT AND PLEASE STAY AWAY FROM GAME BIRD NESTS Youngsters should be taught to do likewise.

The customary statement of the person illegally possessed of protected wildlife is that the young were "abondoned" by the mother When mother instinct and the shyness of most wild creatures are considered, the falsity of this claim becomes apparent

The mother may be away for periods of time or she may have disappeared at the approach of a human, but she periodically returns to her nest of young o will usually do so after the natural enemy leaves Wild turkeys sometimes abandon a nest disturbed or even closely approached, by humans

Call Game Protector

On the rare occasion when it is known that the mother has been killed and the young or nest of the female is in danger, the local Game Protector should be called at once It is his legal responsibility to care for wildlife and he has or will find, the means for handling the young or eggs

Actually the people who attempt to "save" wildlife, do it an injustice. No person can rear a wild bird or animal, and teach it tricks of survival, like the mother

"Hand-reared" wild creatures are often incapable of survival when released in the open In the case of "Bambi," the docile-appearing fawn when the whitetail reaches maturity it sometimes turn dangerous and attacks humans.

MHS Nine at Monongahela

Monessen High's baseball nine will appear at Monongahela today in a Section 17 game.

The Greyhounds anticipate a rough reception. They upset the highly-favored Monongahelans in the season inaugural.

Since then the Cats have been seething for revenge. The only other loss on the Monongahela record was applied by undefeated Charleroi In contrast, Monessen hasn't won a game since the opener.

In another Section 17 battle today, the pace-setting Charleroi Cougars will go to Donora.

Monessen High Tennis Team Squeezes by California, 3-2

Monessen High's tennis team squeezed by California, 3-2, at the City Park courts yesterday to take undisputed possesion of first place in the Section 4 WPIAL standings.

For Baker, the contest was his first of the season. Earlier he had decided to pass up tennis in favor of baseball.

However the poised Baker, who is also a member of the Pittsburgh city junior squash team, returned to the net squad last week. He took several days to warm up, then made his initial appearance yesterday.

No Trouble

Baker had no trouble disposing of the Trojans number two man, John Vohar, on scores of 6-3 and 6-2.

Earlier the brilliant Kurey had handled California's ace, Russell Millan, 6-2 and 6-1.

Kurey and Baker then teamed in doubles play to beat Millan and Remy, 6-0 and 6-1.

Thus the two juniors manufactured all of the Monessen points.

In the other singles match, California's Fred Rummell had a surprisingly easy time with Dennis D'Alessio, 6-0 and 6-1.

More Surprising

Even more surprising, the California doubles team of Vohar and Rummell swamped D'Alessio and Ron D'Angelo, 6-0 and 6-2.

A scheduled match featured Monessen High's feminine star, Mary Katsuleris, was called off when her California opponent was unable to make an appearance.

Here's a summary of yesterday's match

Monessen 3, California 2

Kurey, M., defeated Millan, C., 6-2 and 6-1

Baker, M., defeated Vohar, C., 6-3 and 6-2

Rummell, C., defeated D'Alessio, M., 6-0 and 6-1.

Kurey and Baker, M., defeated Millan and Remy, C., 6-0 and 6-1

Ozarks Defeat Yukon, 6-3, in Exhibition Tilt

Manager Pappy Johnson's Monessen Ozarks coasted to their second straight exhibition win last night, posting a 6-3 decision at Yukon.

Bill Mitnick, who pitched effortlessly for three innings, received credit for the win. Fuzzy Anderson, John Smith and Bruce Pezzelle also took turns on the hill.

Monessen opened the scoring with three runs in the third inning. Tom Rotheram doubled and Bob Mastracci walked.

Appropriately enough, manager Johnson brought everybody home with a round tripper over the left field fence at the 349 mark.

In the fifth, the Ozarks added three more runs without a hit. Al Trozzo walked and Tom Standard reached first on an error. Rich Zuraw's grounder was also booted, with both Trozzo and Standard scoring. An infield out brought Zuraw across.

Two singles produced a Yukon run in the third inning. Two more tallies came across for the home side in the fifth on a walk and singles by Korpar and King.

Johnson used no less than 18 players during the exhibition win

NEW YORK (UP) — Tony Dibiase and Jimmy Archer, both of New York, have signed to meet in a 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena, May 13.

Bellmar Nine Wins Behind Fine Pitching

Bellmar High's baseballers defeated California, 7-3, yesterday behind clever three-hit pitching by Conrad Lupori

The visiting Canes thus chalked up their fourth win in seven Section 17 outings

Lupori had a no-hitter going until the sixth inning With two men out, Doug Gasher popped a ground-rule double into the short right centerfield stands.

Ewing Bell followed with a single to push Gasher across.

Lupori, who had seven strikeouts, was backed by a solid 14 hit attack. Steve Raymond had a triple and double while Jim Bitonti chipped in with a triple and single.

The Canes tallied twice in the second inning when Fred Mollard reached first on an error and Bitonti followed with a triple. A sacrifice pushed Bitonti across.

Another Run

In the third, Bub Gardner tripled and Larry Petras singled him home.

Bellmar added four runs in the final inning after two men had been retired. Gardner started the fun with a single and Mollard bingled him to third.

Tom O'Toole's safety scored a run and Bitonti's single chased another across. Raymond Wrapped things up with a screaming triple.

City Softballers To Meet Tonight

Monessen's City Softball League will organize tonight for the upcoming campaign.

League secretary Doc Destefano said that the meeting will take place in the Ravens Club beginning at 8:30 p. m.

All interested teams should have representatives present.

Officers will be elected and plans formulated for the upcoming campaign.

Turners Girls Place Second in AAU Gym Meet

The Monessen Turners feminine gym team placed second last weekend in the district AAU meet at Beaver High School, according to team standings released today.

These six gymnasts comprised the Monessen team: Maxine Maxwell, Marion Bachinski, Sharon Bobbs, Loretta Lorenzo, Beverly Browns and Blanche Pelzer.

Individual awards for junior grade went to Miss Lorenzo, who was third on the balance team, third in free calisthenics, second on the horse vault and second in all-around competition with 58.5 points.

Senior Grade

In the senior grade, awards went to Mill Pelzer for sixth place in the horse vault, fifth in the unevenbars and fifth in the all-around competition with 59.9 points.

Miss Brown was nominated for the 1957 sportsmanship award. She placed first in the balance beam, fifth in the free exercise, fifth in the horse vault, second in the uneven bars and third in the all-around competition with 67.9 points.

The women's team was coached by Mrs. Peggy Williams. The girls are scheduled to appear in another gym meet on June 1 and 2.

Receives Award

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Rookie Phillies first baseman Ed Bouchee was honored Wednesday by the Philadelphia Sports Writers Assn. at one of its forums.

Chicago Plans Another Trade With Cardinals

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Chicago Cubs are expected today to follow up their two-for-two deal with the Pittsburgh Pirates by peddling veteran pitcher Bob Rush to the St. Louis Cardinals.

In exchange for the fireballing, 31-year-old Rush, the Cubs are reported to be asking for Eddie Kasko, a 24-year-old shortstop, plus another player. The Cardinals have been seeking to obtain Rush since last winter.

The Cubs and Pirates, both off to disappointing starts, broke the trade log-jam Wednesday with a deal that sent first baseman Dee Fondy and infielder Gene Baker to Pittsburgh and first baseman Dale Long and outfielder Lee Walls to Chicago. Both clubs said no cash was involved.

Need Punch

Vice President Charley Grimm said that Long and Walls were obtained to give the Cubs, the weakest hitting team in the league, some punch. Long set a major league record by homering in eight straight games last season and drove in 91 runs although he hit only .263. Walls, 24, hit 11 homers, drove in 54 runs and batted .274 for the Pirates last year.

In Pittsburgh, manager Bobby Bragan said the acquisition of the 31-year-old Baker "will give us the best infield since I came to Pittsburgh last year." Bragan plans to play Baker at shortstop, moving Dick Groat to third, and keeping Bill Mazeroski at second and Frank Thomas at first.

Big Six Meet Tomorrow at Brownsville

The annual Bix Six track meet will be held tomorrow in Brownsville beginning at 1.30 p. m.

For the first time since the meet was revived following World War II, all valley schools will participate in the track show.

Ready to enter teams are defending champion Brownsville, Monessen, Charleroi, Donora, Redstone and Monongahela.

The Brownies are favored to win their third straight track crown. They are undefeated this season in dual and triangular meets.

Most of the Brownsville opposition will come from Donora. The Dragons are also unbeaten this year.

Monessen has little hope of winning any events. Coach Cliff Jones inexperienced thinclads will settle for a respectable showing in the final point totals.

The only serious Monessen hopes are hurdler George Selelyo and dash man George Donnell.

Office League Bowling Banquet

The Pittsburgh Steel Office Bowling League will stage its fifth annual banquet at the Cape Cod Room in Johnson's Restaurant, on Tuesday, May 21, beginning at 6 30 p. m.

According to secretary Albert Rugar, the cocktail hour will begin at 6 p. m.

Bucs Sign Pitcher

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today the signing of free agent pitcher Bernard Kunert, 23, of Warwick, N.Y., to a contract with Lincoln, Neb., in the Class A Western League.

Pirates Send Walls, Long to Cubs for Baker and Fondy

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A remodeled infield featuring Gene Baker at short, Dick Groat at third, and Frank Thomas at first will be fielded by the slumping Pirates tonight as a result of a four-man trade with the Cubs.

Baker, acquired with first baseman Dee Fondy Wednesday in exchange for first baseman Dale Long and outfielder Lee Walls, was considered the key man in the deal by Pittsburgh Manager Bobby Bragan.

"I think Baker is the answer to a good infield," Bragan said. "He will play short, Dick Groat will move to third and Frank Thomas will remain at first with Bill Mazeroski staying at second against Milwaukee tonight."

The peppery manager said the new combination "is the best infield since I came to Pittsburgh last year."

Know Baker's Talents

"I know of Baker's talents from the Pacific Coast League," he said. "I was managing Hollywood when Baker played for Los Angeles."

Fondy recalled that he played for Bragan for two full season and part of another at Fort Worth.

"I know the kind of ball Bobby plays and I hope I will fit in," Fondy said.

Bragan said he can replace Lee Walls in left field with either Roman Mejias or Gene Freeze. He said Fondy also can back up left field "and I can use him to spell Thomas at first."

Long was crestfallen on hearing he had been traded.

"I've been in a slump here," he said. "But I started seven games and in five of them I faced left handed pitchers. I hate to leave Bragan after being associated with him for four years."

Walls expressed satisfaction at going to the Cubs, who play no home night games, "because I've always hit pretty good at Wrigley Field."

May Switch Back

Bragan said if his retooled infield "doesn't work out, I'll just switch them—Groat back to short and Baker to third."

Baker, 31, played second base for the Cubs, but was a shortstop in the minors. His four year batting average is .267. Fondy hit .269 last year and drove in 46 runs.

Walls, 24, hit .274 last year with 11 homers and 54 RBIs. Long set a major league record last season when he hit eight homers in as many straight games, but finished with a .263 average and 91 RBIs.

The trade was announced during Wednesday's Pittsburgh-St. Louis game in which the Cardinals used extra-base power to defeat the Pirates, 9-2. Walker Cooper slammed a two-run homer and Stan Musial hit two doubles as the Cards battered four Pirate Pitchers for a dozen hits, Bob Purkey was the loser.

Volts Reign as Bowling Champs

Volts reigned today as champions of the Blooming Mill Electric Bowling League.

They won that title on Tuesday by taking three of five games from the Ohms in the championship brawl.

Nick Tonini paced the winners with a 176-798 score. For the losers, Norman Frantz had 196-829.

Members of the championship team are Tonini, Steve Swansick, Ed Drabik, Pete Urick, Mike Kizman, Phil Faraci, Walter Wentzell, Joe Pollock, Augie Grillo, Eugene Boyer and Robert Calderone.

The new champs will be honored at the annual league banquet in Twin Coaches on May 27.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

One At a Time

The golf swing, while it must be a unified action, involves a considerable number of component parts; but it's impossible to keep all these in mind while hitting a golf shot. What must be done, I find, is to keep one — and only one — in mind while making the shot.

On a particular day, I may be concentrating on starting down slowly from the top. Another time, I may single out the matter of keeping my head still until the ball is met and away. But it's always one single thing at a time.

I usually choose this single point while warming up before the start of a round. Maybe I am exhibiting a tendency on practice shots to quick-hook the ball. I know that I am getting my hands in too quick, and they are starting to roll over before the ball is contacted. So I try to delay the hit by starting down more slowly. It works, and I keep that point in mind throughout the round.

The next time you play, single out some aspect of the swing to concentrate on for that particular day.

Brickner Movies Set for Dunlevy

Films of Gus Brickner's many swimming feats will be screened tomorrow at the Garibaldi Club in Dunlevy beginning at 8 p. m.

The movies are free to the public.

Included in the show will be Brickner's 25-mile jaunt down the Allegheny River last year.

Robinson Regains His Title

Sugar Flattens Fullmer in Fifth Round; Basilio Next

By JACK CUDDY

CHICAGO (UP) — Veteran Sugar Ray Robinson, the ring's revivified superman whose devastating left hook made him world middleweight champion for an unprecedented fourth time, indicated today he will defend against welter ruler Carmen Basilio in a mid-July million-dollar fight.

Fresh from his spectacular fifth-round knockout over Gene Fullmer — the most glorious victory of his 17-year career—Sugar Ray said, "I'll be ready to match my new matador-bull style against Basilio any time the money is right."

The 36-year-old "matador" blasted the bull-necked, bull-shouldered Fullmer to the canvas for a knockout at 1:27 of the fifth round in Chicago Stadium before 14,753 Wednesday night.

Fullmer, who had taken the title from Robinson on a unanimous decision last January, was hit so hard that he said, "I never knew what happened to me until they were telling me in the corner I was counted out."

Sugar 3-1 Underdog

Sugar Ray, the 3-1 underdog who still packed enough dynamite to kayo Fullmer for the first time in his career of 41 fights, is such an attraction now that promoter Jim Norris believes a defense against rugged Basilio, another who never was stopped, should draw close to a million dollars at New York's Yankee Stadium, probably July 16 or 23.

Robinson, who was carefully schooled by ex-champion Joe Louis while training for Fullmer, changed the pattern of his fighting completely Wednesday night—when compared to his January strategy. And the changes — coupled with his explosive left hook—won for him.

He shuffled persistently toward Fullmer, but refrained from leading at him with left jabs or straight rights. Instead, he feinted Fullmer into leading with his own charging, swarming attack. And then Ray countered him. In January, Robinson made the mistake of leading at Fullmer and letting Fullmer counter with his charges.

Fullmer, who landed more punches but less effective ones during Wednesday night's brief encounter, was leading slightly on all three official score cards by the identical score, 19-18. And that coincided with the United Press sheet.

Ray Hit With Lien

Gene and Ray earned purses of $67,480 each from the $158,643 gross gate and $100,000 TV-radio fee. However, Uncle Sam has slapped a tax lien of $23,000 on Robinson's loot.

Fullmer, the muscular mauler from West Jordan, Utah, said, "Naturally I'd like to get a rubber match with him for the title, but I guess we'll have to wait and see what happens to Robinson's negotiations with Basilio."

Utah Gene, at 159½ pounds, weighed two pounds more than in January and was expected to be stronger at the new weight. Robinson scaled 159½ at this time, just a half pound less than at New York.

Pricedale Loop Will Reorganize

The Pricedale Softball League will hold its annual reorganization meeting tonight at the Hillcrest Hotel.

A league spokesman, Ted Nicholls, said that all interested teams are invited to the meeting.

Myford to Back Softball Team

Myford Grille will sponsor a softball team in the City League this season, according to Roscoe DeMarino, proprietor.

All interested candidates are asked to report to the Grille at 9 p. m. tomorrow.

Ray Credits Lord and Louis For Upset Win

By RAY ROBINSON

CHICAGO (UP)—The Lord and Joe Louis — they joined hands in making me the middleweight champion of the world again.

To the millions of people who prayed for my success I owe my everlasting thanks. I know that in answer to these prayers God sent two people to help me regain the title — Father Lang to give me spiritual guidance and Joe Louis to give me the benefit of his boxing experience. (Rev. Fr. Jovian Lang of St. Joseph's Seminary, Westmont, Ill.).

When a boxer gets older he's bound to lose some of his sharpness but it's impossible for him to recognize what's gone. Joe did that for me like the true friend he is. More than anything else, he retaught me how to step back and punch as Fullmer came pressing in on me. That's what I just couldn't seem to do in the first fight and it proved to be the difference this time.

Not Kidding

I'm not kidding myself a bit. I needed all the help I could get. This Fullmer is one rough cookie and I feel mighty fortunate that I won as I did. He's strong as a bull and takes a punch like few boys around these days. I drove home several good shots and all he did was blink and come back swinging.

He was a fairly easy target and I felt rather confident that one of those shots would have just a little extra something on it and he'd have to fall rather than blink.

I think I weakened him with a couple of sharp rights earlier in the fifth, which certainly helped when the opening presented itself as he charged in and I swung home the left hook that put him on the canvas.

Don't kid yourself. I was mighty glad he didn't get up—he gave me all the fight I wanted for an evening's entertainment.

Cincy Defeats Phillies in 16 Inning Contest, 8 to 6

By FRED DOWN

The Cincinnati Redlegs, who won games the easy way via 221 homers last season, seem determined to do it the hard way this year.

Off to a near-disastrous start when they lost six straight games to the Milwaukee Braves, the Redlegs climbed into a tie for fourth place and within striking distance of the National League leaders Wednesday night with an 8-6 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. But it took four hours and 36 minutes, 16 innings and about 10 years off manager Birdie Tebbetts' career to accomplish the job.

Wally Post finally broke up the longest game of the current major league season when he singled home two runs in the top of the 16th. That gave Warren Hacker, fifth of six Cincinnati pitchers, his first win and the Redlegs their second straight triumph over a team that held them even at 11-11 in 1956.

The Milwaukee Braves held their one-game lead in the N.L. when they beat the New York Giants, 5-1, in 10 innings, the Brooklyn Dodgers routed the Chicago Cubs, 7-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals pummelled the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-2, in the other N.L. games.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles, 9-3, the New York Yankees downed the Detroit Tigers, 7-4, the Cleveland Indians rallied to shade the Washington Senators, 7-6, and the Kansas City Athletics scored a 7-5 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

Warren Spahn, brilliant 36-year-old southpaw, turned in his fourth consecutive win with an eight-hitter against the Giants. The Giants tied the score in the ninth on Ossie Virgil's triple and Ray Jablonski's single but the Braves snapped the deadlock when Hank Aaron singled home Danny O'Connell in the 10th and Frank Torre and Bobby Thomson followed with clinching homers.

Don Drysdale scattered seven hits as the Dodgers ran their modest winning skein to three straight. It was the sixth defeat in a row for the Cubs.

Stan Musial smashed two doubles and 42-year-old Walker Cooper homered to lead the Cardinals' 12-hit assault on four Pittsburgh pitchers. Willard Schmidt gained his first win while Bob Purkey suffered his first loss.

Yank Rookie Homers

Minnie Minoso knocked in four runs with three-for-three and rookie Jim Landis walloped three doubles to lead the White Sox to their ninth victory in 11 games. Ex-Giant Jack Harshman won his third straight for the Sox although Dixie Howell finished up. George Kell had four hits for Baltimore.

Rookie Tony Kubek hit his first major league homer and added two singles as the Yankees turned on Frank Lary. Lary was knocked out of the game literally when struck on the right hip by a line drive in the fourth inning. Reliever Tommy Byrne was credited with the win.

Vic Wertz' two-run seventh-inning single gave the Indians a close win after it appeared they were en route to an easy conquest of the Senators behind Herb Score. Score fanned 12 batters in the first six innings but the Senators kayoed him in a five-run seventh that put them ahead, 6-4. Ray Narleski pitched the last two innings for his third straight win.

Virgil Trucks, 38-year-old right hander, yielded only two hits in 6 2-3 innings of relief pitching for his third straight victory of the year for Kansas City. Gus Zernial knocked in three runs with a homer and a single and Harry Simpson hit a two-run homer for the A's while Ted Williams slugged his fifth homer of the season for the Red Sox.

Teacher 43 Years Honored At Dinner Party Tuesday

Mrs. Lillie Roy, who will conclude a 43 year teaching career at the close of the present school term was honored at a dinner party on Tuesday evening at the Monongahela Valley Country Club.

Mrs. Roy is a teacher in the Fairhope second grade, a position she has held more than 30 years. She also taught in the Rostraver Township Schools.

Attending the party were the members of the faculty of the Bellmarette Joint Schools and their husbands and wives, School Directors, Supervising Principal and Mrs. Robert VanBremen and representing the Fayette County Schools, two assistant superintendents George Dumbauld and Harry Riffle and their wives. Covers were laid for 78 guests at tables arranged with tall lighted tapers and spring flowers.

James Houseman, principal of the Fairhope School, served as toastmaster, and Ross Boston, vocal music director of the Bellmarette Schools, led in group singing. Joseph Brisbane, elementary supervisor of schools, offered the invocation.

In behalf of the guests, Mr. VanBremen presented Mrs. Roy with a gift. She expressed her thanks and then spoke briefly concerning her work as a teacher.

A program of entertainment was arranged for the remainder of the evening. Patricia Mouser gave a reading, "Bobby Shafto". She is a teacher in the Marion School. Mrs. Patty Bell, secretary to Bellmar High School Principal Raymond Barker, sang two solos, and a social time followed.

Mrs. Houseman served as chairman of the committee on arrangements, which was composed of Dorothy Gorio, of Bellmar High School; Janet Steele, of Vernon Junior High School; Elvira Kronemer, Marion Junior High; Elizabeth Weaver, Marion Elementary; Eleanor Krempasky, North Belle Vernon Elementary; Grace Springer, Belle Vernon Elementary; Bess Welch and Rose Yusko, Fayette City Elementary.

The Rev. James C. Puz, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Thomas Lancaster, Jr., Mrs. Bertha McClain and Mrs. Dan Morgan attended the annual State Conservative Baptist at Lewistown recently.

Mrs. Alice Smith, Mrs. Evelyn Komlos, Mrs. Olive Palfrey and Mrs. Lily Wells attended the American Legion Tri-County Auxiliary meeting yesterday at Monongahela.

Marion Ninth Grade Class in Monday Dance

The annual graduation dance for the ninth grade class at Marion Junior High School was held on Monday evening.

The setting of "The Old South" used for the Bellmar High School Junior-Senior Prom was used again and provided a festive background for dancing to the music of Teddy Kuhn's orchestra.

The social evening was arranged from 8 until 11 p. m. and was climaxed by the serving of refreshments under the direction of Mrs. Russell Cope and Mrs. Thomas Liptrot.

Many parents visited the affair during the evening.

Faculty sponsors of the ninth grade are Elvira Kronemer, Bernadine Fabriziani, Harry Muckle and Mrs. Frances Boag.

Harold Underwood, principal of Marion Junior High School, has announced that the annual production of the Dramatic Club is scheduled for May 10. It will be given in the afternoon and will be open to parents and friends. It is being directed by Elvira Kronemer and Bernadine Fabriziani.

Promotion ceremonies at Marion will take place on May 24.

Jolly Club Meets At Palfrey Home

Mrs. Olive Palfrey, of Short St.. was hostess to members of the Jolly Club at her home on Tuesday evening.

Cards were played and winning high score awards were Mrs. Mercy Michener, Mrs. Marion Gauden, Mrs. Julia Nesti and Mrs. Palfrey.

Luncheon was served and plans were made to meet in two weeks at the Michener home on Jean St. The Mother's Day gift exchange will take place at that time.

Laird Snyder, who has completed his basic training in the U. S. Army is spending a leave with his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Costa. On May 10 he will leave for his new base in Texas.

A 'REAL' INDIAN — John Hewitt (left) will be seen as a "real" Indian, Eaglerock, tomorrow night in the Bellmar High School Senior Class play, "Girl Crazy", while Paul Hayduk will be playing the role of Lt. Caddigan of the State Police. The production has been in rehearsal for some time with Miss Ruth Frost as director. Today a student matinee was presented and tomorrow night the show will be for parents and friends.

Investiture Is Held by Fairhope Brownie Troop

Investiture ceremonies were held on Tuesday evening for the girls of Fairhope Brownie Troop 10 at the Marion Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Peg DePaolo, president of the Triad Leaders Club, was in charge of the ceremony and the girls were pinned by the troop leader, Mrs. Elsie Adamec.

Mothers of the girls were present as guests and refreshments were served after the ceremonies.

The six new girls invested were Barbara DeSimone, Pam DePaolo, Peggy Schneider, Paulette Zelczak, Nancy Garner and Delane Garner.

Two year stars were presented to Janice Adamec, Cheryl Davis, Carol Fedora, Lucinda Lazzari, Roberta McMillen and Peggy Olivver.

Those receiving three year awards were Virginia Dohan, Patty McMillen and Cheryl Kissell.

Work on the Mother's Day craft project will begin again next meeting night.

Ladies Auxiliary Plans Card Party

Tomorrow evening the Ladies Auxiliary to American Legion Post 659 will sponsor a card party for the benefit of the American Cancer Society and it will be open to the public.

A house to house collection has been underway for this fund in the area for the past several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Miller, of Cleveland, Ohio, spent the weekend with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lancaster, of Gibsonton.

Lorraine Palfrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Palfrey of Short St., and husband of the former Kathryn Harvey, has reported to Parris Island, S. C., where he will undergo basic training in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Krivda, of Washington Township, were their daughter, Jeanie, Anna Marie Befano, of Johnstown; Janet Blankenbeker, of Pittsburgh; Barbara Boyts, of Crafton and Jo Ann Hannigan, of Titusville. All are students at Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

Washington Township School Board Budget Is Adopted

The Washington Township Board of Education adopted a tentative budget in the amount of $305,000 anticipated expenditure at the April meeting held on Monday evening in the Marion Junior High School.

The tax millage was set at 35 mills property tax, a $5 per capita tax under the school code and a $5 per capita tax under Assembly Act 481. The tax rate is exactly the same as last year and there are no major budget changes.

President John Kasuda was in charge of the session which was attended by Richard Hamer, Blandon Bulger, S. E. Koslasky and Leo Valdiserri, directors; Tom Banjor, Tax Collector Guy Winn, James Houseman, principal of Fairhope School, Marion Principal Harold Underwood and Robert VanBremen, Bellmarette Joint School Supervising Principal.

Steve Baker, vice president of the Washington Township Fire Co., was present to request the use of the Marion Junior High athletic field for a softball team to be sponsored by the Fire Co. and by the Fairhope Rod and Gun Club.

Tom Banjor, a teacher in the Marion Junior High School, was retained as supervisor for the summer recreational program for young people in the township.

Guy Winn, tax collector, presented his report and the board exhonerated him from the delinquent taxes.

Routine reports were given by the Jointure committee chairmen.

Legion Junior Auxiliary Meets; To Sell Candy

Mrs. Dorothy Cefala, Junior director, was in charge of the April meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the American Legion Post 659 held in the Post Home. President Ginger Houseman conducted the business session after the opening ceremonies.

Carol Ann Cefala, sergeant at arms, advanced and retired the colors.

Routine reports were given by Patty Panarella and Eilenne Morris and it was decided that the girls will sell candy as a fund raising project.

The April birthday of Sandra Fundy was observed and the cake was baked by Mrs. Clyde Houseman. The prize of the evening was awarded to Kathy Graham.

The girls worked on their Mother's Day crafts and then luncheon was served by Mrs. Cefala assisted by several of the mothers present.

Girl Scouts to Meet Tonight

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 6 will meet this evening in the Girl Scout Little House and will work on the Mother's Day craft project. The girls are also planning to work on a Father's Day craft project.

The leader, Mrs. William Myers was in charge of last week's session, which was opened by a horseshoe ceremony with Linda Toth, Judy Amorosa and Kathlian Myers as color guards, Jane Beazell as commander and Janice Center as song leader.

Judy Amorosa presided at the business session and Indian Taps concluded the meeting.

Prizes Awarded At Club Meeting

Mrs. Zelinda Sabatini, of Lynnwood, was hostess to the members of the Lynnwood Tuesday Evening Club at her home. Mrs. Edith Ferencz was present as a guest.

Cards were played and those winning high score awards were Mrs. Viva Lovas, Mrs. Mabel O'Hara and Mrs. Margaret Davis.

Luncheon was served and Mrs. Margaret Davis was appointed next hostess.

Mrs. Alice Hayden has returned to her home after being a patient in the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Sluggish Steel Demand, Experts Are Predicting

NEW YORK (UP)—The current sluggish demand for steel is likely to continue at least through the second quarter unless steel orders from the auto industry pick up, Iron Age said today.

"But no one seriously looks for Detroit to come to life until late in the second quarter or early in the third," the metalworking publication added.

Declaring that steel users are content to live off their inventories as long as they can, Iron Age said "they're counting on the mills to pull their chestnuts out of the fire in case they need quick delivery."

The steel industry doesn't like it, but competition is forcing some of them "to play warehouse" for important customers, it said.

The mills also are "taking it on the chin" from another quarter, the trade publication said. Customers are more choosy and rejection rate for quality reasons is on the rise.

But despite the current easiness in some products, Iron Age stated, the steel outlook for the year is considered good.

Clubbers Compete

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (UP)—The jolts patrons of the Vido Club have been getting lately haven't come from the drinks served there. Vonda Lou Taylor, the tavern owner, filed suit in Circuit Court asking that a next door golf driving range be closed. Miss Taylor said fledgling golfers have been slicing their drives and striking customers leaving the club.

Pardons Board Probers Begin Sifting Through Mass of Testimony

HARRISBURG (UP)—The legislative committee investigating the state Pardons Board today turned to the task of sifting through a mass of testimony taken during 11 weeks of public hearings.

The six-member House-Senate committee wrapped up the hearing phase of the inquiry Wednesday, with the record showing some 3,000 pages of testimony from about 35 witnesses.

The two Democratic members indicated a minority report by them would not be necessary. The committee must report to the General Assembly by May 11.

Rep. Philip Lopresti (D-Cambria) and Sen Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton) said they were "inclined to believe" they can agree with the findings of the Republican members.

Both Yosko and Lopresti said the investigation might bear fruit in legislation to make administrative changes in the board set up, but they said they would reject any implication in the report that Pardon Board members, past or present, allowed political considerations to influence their actions.

"They can say the board members are under political pressure, if they want," Lopresti said. "All of us in public office are under political pressure. But that doesn't say we give into that pressure."

Republican committee members refused to discuss what they feel about the results of the inquiry.

The investigation, touched off last September by Gov. George M. Leader's commutation of the death sentences of David Darcy, Harry Foster and Harold Zeitz, turned up no concrete charge of political influence during the 25 public hearings.

The legislative resolution authorizing the investigation said "the opinion prevails in many quarters that political considerations influenced the board" in the Darcy case and "in other recent cases."

Charged Sinister Influence

Former U. S Sen. James H Duff, in his campaign for reelection last fall, charged that "sinister influences' were responsible for Leader's clemency for the trio, who, led by Darcy, conducted an eight-year legal battle to escape execution for the slaying of a bystander during a Bucks County tavern holdup

Duff's charges apparently referred to Philadelphia builder and newspaper publisher Matthew H McCloskey Jr., a national and state Democratic finance figure, and a close friend of Darcy's aunt, Marion Ford, who financed Darcy's clemency appeals

McCloskey testified before the committee admitted speaking to the Democratic board members about the case, but flatly denied bringing any political pressure on Darcy's behalf

Miss Ford, at a dramatic night session at the height of the inquiry, told the investigators she alone bore the $26,000 cost of Darcy's appeals

No one appeared before the committee to dispute the testimony of Miss Ford and McCloskey. No one offered contradictory evidence in the case.

The committee heard, however, some sharp criticism of the board, particularly from Delaware County Judge Arthur P. Bretherick

Bretherick suggested that the Legislature "rip out" the board as it is now constituted and substitute one "not affected by politics." He pointed out that two of the board members—the lieutenant governor and the internal affairs secretary are elected officials, while two others—the Commonwealth secretary and the attorney general—are appointed by the governor.

He said such officials are too close to partisan politics to remain free of political pressures

He did not offer any evidence of such misconduct by the board, beyond disputing its actions in several cases in his county.

The committee will also have available in drawing up its report, suggestions for improving the Pardons Board from the deans of the state's six law schools.

Named to State Chiropody Board

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M. Leader has asked state Senate confirmation of his appointment of Charles D Bossart, 822 Washington Rd., Pittsburgh, to the state Board of Chiropody Examiners.

ie appointment wouldr un four years.

Mate Is Lonely

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Mrs. Robert Biggs was granted a divorce Wednesday on the ground that she was lonely. Her ex-husband owns a burlesque theater.

TALE OF TORTURE — Two ons of Lee Tung Dai, 81, help him down plane ramp in San Francisco on his arrival from the Orient, and then heard a tale of torture and extortion. Lee, born in San Francisco, went to China in 1939, and, he said, after the Communists took over he was jailed repeatedly and forced to turn over $10,000.

GOP Squabble Over Labor Legislation

HARRISBURG (UP)—The sponsor of so-called "bill of rights" legislation for labor told today of a backstage skirmish between House and Senate Republican caucuses over inclusion of a portion of the package in the GOP's Assembly platform.

Rep. Willard F Agnew Jr (R-Allegheny) said the House caucus included two bills from his labor legislation in the GOP party platform announced officially today but the measures were knocked out by the Republican senators.

Agnew said the 27 member Senate delegation vetoed the two bills because they feared the legislation would label the party "anti-labor."

The legislation involved would require labor organizations to make their financial records open to the public and to give the state Banking Board authority to check labor welfare funds.

"The House leadership is for the bills," Agnew said "Believe me, George Bloom Republican State Chairman) and I were pretty burned up when the bills were knocked out "

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (McKean) conceded the original labor plank was removed in favor of a more general policy statement but declined to discuss the reason.

However, he said the intent of Agnew's two bills "could" be incorporated in separate legislation and introduced later this session. Agnew sponsored a series of four bills on labor in co-sponsorship with Rep. Richard L. Adams (R-Berks) and Jack H. Seltzer (R-Lebanon) last March 12 but they have remained in the House Labor Relations Committee.

Numerous state labor and union leaders greeted the legislation with a storm of protest, but Agnew contended the "rank and file" were in favor of the bills.

When he first was candidate for the Virginia House of Burgesses George Washington was defeated.

Legion Ladies Auxiliary to Plan for Activities Tomorrow

Extensive planning for the month of May will be carried out tomorrow evening at the regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary to the Brightwell-Daugherty Post.

Mrs. Joseph Williams, president, will appoint committees for the Poppy drive. The dates for the drive will be decided and detailed arrangments will be made by the committee under the chairman, Mrs. Kate Roy.

The coupon drive in the Fayette City, Central, Marion and Fairhope schools, which closed on Tuesday, will be checked and the room in each school will be named for the award, under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. John Tola.

At the conclusion of the business meeting members will count and package the coupons in preparation to presenting them to the state president to be used for keeping the mentally retarded.

Each year the Auxiliary joins with the Legion in attending a memorial service in one of the local churches. It also cooperates in the presentation of Memorial Day ceremonies at Mt. Auburn Cemetery. Tentative plans will be made for both of these activities.

A social hour will follow with Mrs. Howard Opfar, Mrs. William Opfar and Mrs. Samuel Hamer as hostesses.

Search for Nine Wrecked Crewmen

HALIFAX, N.S. (UP)—Two U.S. planes and a Coast Guard cutter searched today for the nine crewmen of a fishing schooner believed to have sunk off the southeast coast of Newfoundland.

American Air Force and Coast Guard planes, the cutter Bibb and several other vessels joined in the search for the schooner, the Joan Ellame, which radioed Wednesday night it was in danger of sinking and that the crew was abandoning ship.

At the time, the schooner reported it was about 25 miles east of St. Pierre Island.

In its first message, the Joan Ellame said it was in danger of sinking and in need of assistance. The second message said crewmembers had abandoned the vessel.

Mrs. Emelo New President of Methodist Class

Mrs. Thomas Emelo was elected president of the E. O. S. Class of the Methodist Sunday School Tuesday evening in the social rooms of the church.

The meeting was opened with a devotional period. Mrs. Read Brightwell, leader, chose for her subject "God's Gift of Flowers."

Serving with Mrs. Emelo during the coming year will be Mrs. Willard Auther, vice president; Mrs. Richard Auther, secretary and Mrs. Edward Shook, treasurer.

The remaining portion of the business session was devoted to making plans for the Spring Fashion Show scheduled for next Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. in the auditorium of the Community Center. Clothes from Eisenberg's, Monessen will be featured.

Mrs. Charles Lakel, general chairman, will narrate. Carolyn Barker will be the pianist.

Models for the show were named and will include, Mrs. Vernon Smith, Mrs. Don Stephens, Mrs. Irwin Abbott, Rosalie Culp, Margaret Scullion, Kay Butler, Norma Jean Roy, Connie Moskela and Coleen Auther.

Showing the latest in spring wear for the younger generation will be Cynthia Hare, Deedre Lakel, Jill Alberta, Kim Emelo, Robby Hough, Steven Miller, Ross Brightwell and Beth Lynn Nelson.

A special program between showings is being arranged.

Bare Indignities

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — Bare-backed sun dresses and bare legs have been outlawed in the offices of the county and criminal court clerks. The bans were put in effect after a male employe objected to the "informal attire" of some women employes.

Gives Advice to Young Politicians

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Advice for high school seniors: politics is a good field for educated young men and women to start their careers.

The tip comes from one who should know: Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, who seeks re-election to his fourth term this year.

"Bad government is bad because it doesn't have good people in it," Lawrence told senior members of the St. Canice High School Poblems of Democracy Class when they visited City Hall Tuesday. "That's why for years we have been interested in getting young educated people interested in politics."

'Copters Cost $201,000

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's two helicopters, with necessary spare parts, are costing a total of $201,000, the Air Force has advised Congress.

The contract figure compares with White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty's report on April 9 that the new whirly-birds would cost about $60,000 each, or $120,000.

Hagerty at that time denied a report that the machines were "plush" versions costing about $80,000 each, $20,000 more than the comparable military or commercial models.

Air Force officers answered questions about the helicopter purchase in recent closed-door testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee. The testimony was made public today.

Subcommittee members, in pressing for details on the purchase, emphasized that they were not opposing it. Chairman George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) said the President's experiment with helicopter travel looks like a sound one.

Rep. Errett P. Scrivner (R-Kan.) said he is for the purchase even if the helicopters are used to fly the President from the White House to the Burning Tree Golf Club—a trip which Hagerty has said is not planned.

For Plane 'Lookouts'

WASHINGTON (UP)—A private pilots' organization called on the nation's airlines today to post "lookouts" on every plane to avoid future air collisions.

A specifically - assigned crew member would do "nothing but maintain a continuous watch, the same sort of requirement they have on ships at sea," an editorial in the official publication of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Assn. proposed. The association represents some 65,000 private fliers.

The editorial included the suggestion in a bitter blast at the Civil Aeronautics Board for its recent report on the Grand Canyon collision of two airliners last June 30—the worst commercial aviation accident in history.

The CAB said the collision was caused by one ,or a combination of many factors, such as intervening clouds, limited cockpit visibility, preoccupation of the pilots with normal cockpit duties, and inadequate air traffic control facilities.

The editorial denounced these findings. It said the crash was caused by the crews' negligence—"the kind of negligence that comes from unnecessarily subjecting one's passengers and equipment to known hazards."

The association magazine charged that the pilots "deliberately" chose to fly "off-airways" —in uncontrolled air space — thus exposing their planes to such potentially dangerous factors as poor cockpit visibility.

Airline officials in Washington declined comment on the aerial "crow's nest" idea except to point out unofficially that adding a third crew member to an estimated 8,000 daily flights also would add millions of dollars to payroll costs.

Un-American Endorsements

The American form of government is the best in the world. Preserve it and better it. The Supreme Law of the land is the Constitution, and our Democratic Party has its principles, rules, and regulations. The endorsing and advocating of a SLATE during an open primary is against free and open elections upon which our constitution is based. It's AGAINST our DEMOCRATIC party rules. Many clubs are violating their by-laws by endorsing. It's UN-AMERICAN to slate. The Democratic Committee made an UN-AMERICAN move by endorsing the slate in an open primary. They are restricting free elections. Where else do such COMMUNISTIC METHODS EXIST? ?

You can say that we don't have to "do" what a Communist advocator advocates, but ISN'T IT DANGEROUS TO HAVE SUCH AN ADVOCATOR? An advocator of endorsing the slate is only the first step toward COMMUNISM. Stalin and Hitler used these same methods to gain control. EVERTHING'S the same, but branded under a DIFFERENT LABEL.

LOOK AT THE RECORD: In the Russian-American Club where 8 votes favored the slate and 3 votes against the slate; there also were present 21 members NOT VOTING. In the Monessen Slovak Home of the approximately 65 members present; 18 votes favored the slate of which one of these votes was cast by a member living in Perryopolis and not a Monessen voter, and 10 votes were cast against the slate, leaving about 37 members NOT VOTING. The NOT VOTING members RESENT INSULTING THEIR INTELLIGENCE. Don't count your chickens before they're hatched, Mayor Parente, for Mayor GOLD had ALL the endorsements from every club and yet Mr. Lescanac BEAT him. ENDORSEMENTS ARE VALUELESS.

Parente's desperate efforts in seeking UN-enthusiastic HALF-HEARTED endorsements indicates to me that HE IS WORRIED about HIMSELF SLIPPING! !

So please, Mayor, be intelligent enought and stop yourself and your friends from seeking them. Let the people decide on Election Day.

Red Cross in Need of Funds; Cutting Employes

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said today the American Red Cross is in "very serious financial trouble" and may have to curtail its service to suffering humanity.

The former NATO European commander, who became President of the Red Cross early this year, told the United Press he has ordered the dismissal of 300 paid employes and a cut of $2,250,000 in the administrative budget of the national organization.

Unless the American people contribute more liberally to the Red Cross than they have so far this year, he said, he will be forced to make further budget cuts which will "directly affect" such traditional programs as disaster relief and aid to servicemen.

Grants Exclusive Interview

Gruenther revealed in a two-hour exclusive interview that he has given up hope of reaching the 95 million dollars goal which the Red Cross set for its 1957 fund-raising drive. Although the drive has been in progress for two months instead of the customary one, contributions to date total only 78 million dollars. Red Cross chapters have been urged to "keep trying" through May, but Gruenther conceded that "we'll be lucky to get up to 85 million dollars".

Failure of this year's drive to reach its goal is particularly serious, he said, because the disaster reserve fund which pulled the Red Cross through past years is now exhausted. Outlays for disaster relief have been running far above normal for several years in a row, he said. The past fiscal year, with heavy floods in New England and the West Coast, "really beat our brains out."

Gen. Gruenther, a small man with piercing eyes and a phenomenal memory, traced the history of the Red Cross financial crisis on a series of huge cardboard charts, mounted in front of the marble fireplace of his office in Red Cross headquarters. Except for the fact that he was wearing a double-breasted blue suit instead of his four-star army uniform, he might have been conducting a briefing on a military problem.

It was evident that Gruenther is no figurehead president of the Red Cross. He has analyzed its problems with the tough-minded realism that made him one of America's most brilliant military commanders.

He attributes Red Cross fund-raising difficulties, in part, to the fact that "competition for philanthropic dollars is vastly greater today than it used to be."

But three months of intensive first-hand investigation, including personal visits to Red Cross offices and chapters across the country, have convinced him that the biggest problem is that "people just don't know what the Red Cross is, and what it does."

"I am appalled by the misconceptions of the Red Cross which I have encountered," he said.

One which particularly troubles the general is the belief that the Red Cross is a "swollen bureaucracy" with hordes of professional do-gooders on its payroll. The fact that he has just ordered a deep cut in overhead expenses might be taken as evidence that Gruenther shares this belief. But he emphasized that is not the case.

Gruenther said about 10 per cent of each dollar contributed to the Red Cross goes into the administrative costs of the national organization and its 3,700 chapters. He thinks this is a reasonable overhead cost, in view of the fact that the paid staff forms a necessary nucleus for the huge volunteer force which donates "hundreds of millions of man-hours of service every year."

"The American people definitely are getting value received for what they give to the Red Cross," he said. "We are going to economize on overhead wherever we possibly can, but I have not found a great deal of fat to be pared off."

Woman's Club of Fellsburg Honors Senior High Girls

The Woman's Club of Fellsburg entertained the Rostraver Senior High School Girls Monday evening at the Fells Methodist Church.

Mrs. Andrew Pasterick and Mrs. Andrew Petronko greeted each girl as they arrived. Mrs. Herbert Howenstine was in charge of the guest book.

President Mrs. James Phythyon welcomed the girls, guests and club members. Mrs. Van Ryn gave the invocation. Mrs. Phythyon introduced the girls sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Bender and the school principal, Clifford Naylor. Nancy Kopp introduced each senior girl and each was presented a yellow pompon corsage by Mrs. Scott Haury and Mrs. Clifford Naylor.

Program chairman was Mrs. Stephen Stofcik. Mrs. Betty Ferrari introduced Frank Spernak, who sang three selections. Mrs. Ferrari played two selections on the piano. A group of girls from the Monongahela Junior High School called the "Nine Notes." sang several songs. Mrs. Ferrari directed the singers.

Mrs. Louise Davis, guest speaker from the California State Teachers College, gave a talk on "Girls".

At the close of the program, guests were served refreshments. The tables were decorated with white tablecloths with green ribbons, white candles, silver trays and a bouquet of yellow poms and daisies.

Mrs. Arthur Seiple presided over the punch bowl assisted by Mrs. William Brown.

Mrs. Robert Naylor, chairman of the affair, and Mrs. William Brown, co-chairman, were assisted by the following committee: Mrs. John Crosser, Mrs. Andrew Petronko, Mrs. Andrew Pasterick, Mrs. Scott Haury, Mrs. Clifford Naylor, Mrs. Arthur Seiple, Mrs. Clarence Brown, and Mrs. Robert Ruch.

The next regular meeting will be May 15th, the final one for the term.

Flyng Saucers Are Just Spots

WASHINGTON (UP) — People who report flying saucers just see spots before their eyes, a scientist says.

Dr. Clifford C. Furnas, former assistant secretary of defense, was asked what he thought of the saucer tales in testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee released today.

"There are many ways in which people can see spots before their eyes," Furnas said. "I feel this is one of them. I do not believe they are real."

Over 125 Students Attend Annual Junior-Senior Banquet

The Junior-Senior banquet of Rostraver High School was held Tuesday at the new Junior High School. Some 125 persons were served a full-course ham dinner.

East German Youths No Longer Fear Reds; Shedding Blue Shirts

By JOSEPH FLEMING

BERLIN (UP) — East German youths, no longer afraid to show their disgust with Communism, are shedding their blue shirts.

A blue shirt is the uniform of both boy and girl members of "Free German Youth," the Communist youth organization in the Soviet Zone.

Most youths not only are refusing to wear their own blue shirts but are openly deriding the small number who still do.

Communist officials have denounced the campaign as "cowardly" and ordered a purge of the organization.

Western observers consider the campaign another reflection of the anti-Communist government which has grown behind the Iron Curtain since last fall's Hungarian rebellion.

Reds Can't Ignore

The Communists could hardly ignore this new defiance from the youth who were to be tomorrow's comrades. Blue shirts used to be seen everywhere. Both boys and girls wore them to school and as they played in the streets. Now they are a rarity.

Communist officials recognize the campaign for what it is—the youths refuse to be identified with Communism.

Young World, official newspaper of the youth organization, admitted "many Free German youth members think this way—when I wear the blue shirt I will have to oppose false conceptions and discussions. If no one knows I am a member, I will avoid such unpleasantness."

The newspaper complained that other members took off their blue shirts "because they want to be neutral and unobtrusive."

"Just as people used to be astounded if you wore a modern suit to work," it added, "they now are amazed when anyone wears the blue shirt."

In ordering a purge, the organization's governing board said "members who are not ready to acknowledge openly the goals of our organization and work for them actively cannot be members of the Free German Youth."

The Communists appeared to be abandoning their old idea of a mass youth organization, substituting instead a small hard core of convinced Communists. The Reds had tried heretofore to get all youths into the organization to indoctrinate them.

The organization now has 1,700,000 members between the ages of 14 and 25. The Young Pioneers, composed of boys and girls from 6 to 13, now numbers 1,300,000 members.

Railways Has Fewer Riders Than Last Year

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh Railways Co. reported today that 1,195,739 fewer riders used its facilities during the first three months of this year than in the same period of 1956, but net operating income increased because of lower expenses.

Operating income for the first quarter of this year totaled $17,267, compared to $144,422 for the first thret months of 1956. Operating expenses for the period this year were $4,332,184. In the first quarter of last year they were $4,559,623.

C. D. Palmer, company president, said the drop of approximately four per cent, from 27,523,014 to 26,327,275, was partly due to there being one day less in February this year than in last.

"But for the rest — it's just due to lowered rider demands, increased use of private cars weather conditions, a later Easter this year, and similar reasons," Palmer said.

Open House Is Planned Saturday At Penn State

High school students interested in learning the career possibilities of metallurgy, geology and other mineral industries professions are invited to an open house counseling day, Saturday at Penn State University.

William R. Rathger, Greensburg, Westmoreland County alumni scholarship president, announced the open house will be held in the Mineral Industries and Mineral Sciences buildings from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. Registration desks will be set up in the first floor lobbies of both buildings.

High School juniors and seniors are particularly invited to take advantage of this opportunity of learning the entrance and course requirements along with the job opportunities and scope of the mineral industries professions.

The Science Fair and open house conducted by the College of Chemistry and Physics is also scheduled for May 4 to enable interested students to seek career counseling in those fields.

Wilson Inspection Saves U. S. Money

WASHINGTON (UP) — Former Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas says the Navy now gets the same work out of half as many people at its Macon, Ga., Ordnance Plant as a result of an inspection by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Thomas, then Navy secretary, and Wilson discussed efficiency steps initiated at the plant in recent closed-door testimony published today by a House Appropriations Subcommittee.

Wilson inspected the plant in 1955 after Congress said it would approve a proposed $3,600,000, 172,000 square-foot expansion program only if he personally certified it was necessary. After Wilson's inspection the program was scaled down to 2 million dollars and 100,000 square feet.

Wilson said his recollection was that "they saved 25 per cent of the personnel" without loss of output after he spotted the old-fashioned, inefficient methods being used.

Looked at Plant

"I went down to Macon and looked at the plant," Wilson said. "Well, I saw some things I did not like very well, affecting the efficient operation of the place, and I would not approve it until the Navy straightened it out, and they saved considerable personnel and got their operations in better shape.

"...We only had to spend two-thirds or three-fourths as much as had been planned because of the things I saw right away that were not right.

"For instance, right away I could see that they had a nice screw machine department with some nice screw machines, but the men were not running enough machines. There were too many people in there. There were no simple conveyors in the place anywhere. They were moving materials in lots and pans from operator to operator like we did 30 years ago.

Would Not Approve

"So I said, 'Well, this is no good. I will not approve a new plant to keep this kind of inefficiency going.'"

Thomas, testifying separately, summed the incident up this way:

"It is interesting. We are turning out the same amount of work with half as many people."

Wilson emphasized that he was not criticizing the Navy. He said he saw right away that "the nice young captain" in charge of the plant was "over his head" in trying to answer Wilson's questions.

The captain, Wilson said, explained that he had just come in off cruiser duty.

Wilson said the inspection had another beneficial result. He said it encouraged the Navy to go over some of its other plants, looking for possible economies.

Margaret not In Love, but Wants to Wed

LONDON (UP) — Friends of Princess Margaret said today she would like to get married but she is not in love and won't marry without it.

The Princess will be 27 in August—a spinsterish age for royalty. She will remain a spinster unless she meets the man sh● wants, according to these friends.

The most prominent name mentioned at the moment is handsome 6-footer Christopher Lloyd, a landowner of the right background and bank account.

He is 33, farms 10,000 acres of rich farmland, has a manor house studded with valuable old masters, won the Military Cross with the Coldstream Guards in the last war.

Admits Two Slayings

CROWN POINT, Ind. (UP)—A sex psychopath who admitted the rape-slayings of a beauty operator and a teenaged girl faced further questioning today in the unsolved murders of several other women.

Authorities also arrested the confessed murderer's wife, the mother of one child, as a possible accomplice in one of the killings. Both were former mental patients.

Police said George Robert Brown, 25, a Gary steelworker, broke down Wednesday and orally confessed the slaying of pretty Lana Brock, 16, New Chicago, Ind.

Brown then took police to the sand dune area where he said he buried the girl, still alive at the time, under tons of sand after assaulting and choking her last Sept. 24.

The shifting sands uncovered Miss Brock's body last Oct. 2. An autopsy showed her lungs contained sand, indicating she died of suffocation.

The spot was only two miles from where police, at Brown's direction, uncovered the body of Mrs. Mildred Grigonis, 30, a Gary beauty shop operator who disappeared 25 days before the Brock murder.

Brown admitted Tuesday he raped and strangled Mrs. Grigonis and buried her in a similar grave in the desolate dunes area.

Chicago authorities said they planned to question Brown today about the unsolved killings of two teenaged sisters whose nude bodies were found in a ditch west of Chicago. The girls, Barbara, 15, and Patricia Grimes, 13, disappeared last Dec. 28 after leaving their Chicago home to attend a movie. Their bodies were found Jan. 22.

Pittsburgh Steel Co. Expansion Program Leads the County

Pittsburgh Steel Co. expansion led Westmoreland County in industrial development projects during 1956, it was announced today by the state Department of Commerce.

The improvement program and new 30-inch mill cost about $21,000,000, the report states.

Monessen's other industrial plant, Page Division, American Chain and Cable Co., spent $225,000 in expansion program, the report adds.

As a result, Monessen led all other Westmoreland County cities in total expansion and development.

Following is a list of county projects in other county communities:

Latrobe

Kennametal, Inc new metal fabrication plant, $750,000

Latrobe Steel Co, expand stainless steel facilities, $1,000,000.

Vanadium-Alloys Steel Co., project adds 52,000 square feet for rolling mills hammer and melt shops, $2,500,000.

Vulcan Iron and Mold Co, ingot molds expansion, $1,000,000.

Jeannette

Elliott Co. adds 65,000 square feet, $2,500,000 50 jobs.

Waltz Mills

Westinghouse Electric Corp. first industry-owned nuclear test reactor, $6,500,000.

Mt. Pleasant

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt Co., new 60,000-square foot plant, $5,000,000, 730 jobs

Arnold

American Window Glass Co, adds furnaces, drawing machinery, $300,000, 75 jobs

Of the projects listed, Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt and Kennametal programs represent new plants. American Window Glass, Elliott Co. and American Chain and Cable are additions to existing plants; Latrobe Steel, Pittsburgh Steel, Vanadium-Alloys Steel and Vulcan Iron and Mold projects represent additions to basic steel; and the Waltz Mills project is listed as an industrial research project.

Warm Weather Costing Coal Dealers Money

WILKES-BARRE Pa. (UP) — The "unseasonably warm spring" weather has cost the anthracite coal industry an estimated 13 million dollars in sales, the Anthracite Institute reported today.

The Institute said the warm weather during the past seven weeks resulted in consumption reduced by 931 thousand tons of domestic heating size anthracite which comprises 70 per cent of anthracite sales.

During 1956 there was "a weighted average of 5,643 degree days" in the six representative cities, the Institute said, with consumption averaging 2,960 tons of anthracite in domestic sizes per degree day.

This year, however, six-city temperatures averaging seven degrees above normal for the March 17-April 28 period caused reduced purchases in five of the seven weeks. The greatest drop occurred in the week ended April 28 when purchases were down 278 thousand tons from the same week in 1956.

Melvin D. Weiss

School to Open Course for Work With Airlines

The Robert Morris School, Pittsburgh, has opened an airline training division, it was announced today.

Under the direction of Melvin D. Weiss, the divisions, the first in Pennsylvania, will train young men and women for reservations and ticketing for all major airlines.

After a six-week training period, graduates will be placed in the reservations and ticketing departments of the airlines.

The first course will begin July 8, followed by courses beginning on August 19 and Sept. 30.

Weiss was formerly administrator of the training school for Capital Airlines.

Subjects covered in the six-week course includes routes, timetables, telephone and sales technique, reservations procedures, communications, space control, tariff rules and fare constructions, health and grooming.

Wants Death For Assaults

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly has received legislation to allow the death penalty for persons convicted of criminally assaulting minors.

A House bill would authorize the electric chair, life imprisonment, or "any lesser term at the discretion of the court" as penalty for persons convicted or pleaded guilty to criminally assaulting a girl under 16. The penalty would apply to rape and statutory rape.

Present law carries up to a $7,000 fine and 15 years imprisonment upon conviction. The bill was sponsored by Reps. John W Brucker (R-Philadelphia and Harry R Comer (D-Philadelphia).

'Legal' Slot Machine Ruling Is Given to 'Electronic Pointmaker'

CHICAGO (UP) — A Chicago slot machine manufacturer has come up with a "legal" one-armed bandit, and life is just a bowl of cherries.

The Buckley Manufacturing Co. is producing the new-fangled slot machine, known as an "electronic pointmaker."

It looks and acts like all other slot machines and features the traditional cherries, plums, oranges, bells and bars.

But it's all based on the science of cybernetics, and apparently that makes it legal.

At least that's the decision of Federal Judge W. Lynn Parkinson, who ruled for the defendant in a recent case entitled "The United States of America vs. One Electronic Pointmaker."

Makes Legal History

The trial, held in the U.S. District Court of Northern Indiana, presumably will take its place in legal history with the sheriff of Nottingham's litigation against Robin Hood.

The judge had the electronic slot machine before him as the principal exhibit. His honor peeked inside at the mechanism, then pulled the handle several times.

When he got no nickels for his trouble he decided that even though it looked like a slot machine, and despite the fact that government claimed it was one, it couldn't be. On account of cybernetics.

Cybernetics (as everybody knows) is the science of electro-mechanical communications systems, such as computing machines. The Buckley company claims that the "pointmaker" is the first application of the new science to "modern amusement."

Specifically, the judge held that the machine does not come under the Johnson Act, which prohibits interstate shipment of slot machines to states in which they are outlawed.

Machine Has Tubes

The Johnson Act holds that a slot machine must have a drum or reel on which insignia are inscribed—plums, bells, etc. The pointmaker has no drum or reel. It has tubes, like a radio or TV set.

Furthermore, the judge found, it has no slot for coins. Instead, it has an electronic computer, which keeps score.

As a result of the decision, the Buckley people say they are going into full production and will ship the gadgets to clubs and lodges throughout the country.

"Although the operation is basically electronic, the player personally operates the pointmaker by a pull of the handle and many experienced players place great skill in the stress, timing and sympathetic rhythm they put into the pull," the company said.

But it didn't say what the odds are on hitting the jackpot.

Brothers Get Execution Stay

ATLANTA (UP)—George and Michael Krull, brothers of McKees Rocks, Pa., have been granted a 70-day stay of execution in order to appeal their death sentence direct to President Eisenhower.

U.S. District Judge Frank Hooper ordered the stay Tuesday at the request of the Krulls' defense attorneys. They were sentenced to die in the electric chair May 9 by Judge Hooper last week for the 1955 kidnap-rape of a 53-year-old woman at Chickamauga National Park in northwest Georgia.

Attorneys for the two brothers told Hooper it will take at least 60 days for the President to act on their appeal.

BAKED EGGS

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon onion juice
½ teaspoon celery salt
1 cup milk
6 eggs
1 cup grated sharp cheese

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan and blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens. Pour into flat baking dish and drop eggs on top. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F about 10 minutes or until eggs are done and cheese is toasted. Serve on buttered toast.

Yield 6 servings.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M Barber

MAKE A LARGE BATCH OF DELECTABLE BROWN BREAD and store the extra loaves, dated and carefully wrapped, in the freezing compartment. To serve, reheat till they're piping hot.

Brown Bread and Beans Prove Popular on Menus

Most of us flatter ourselves that there is nothing quite so good as our own home cooking. We take advantage of the ready-to-use and almost-ready-to-use foods of course but once in a while those of us who really like to cook enjoy a session in the kitchen.

Edith Barber

Every once in a while, I get hungry for baked beans prepared Pennsylvania style. You will note that the recipe corresponds almost exactly to the method used in New England and Boston, both of which titles are attached to baked pork and beans. Being from Pennsylvania, I challenge New England. Of course I prepare enough for more than one meal as should be done with any food that demands hours of baking.

With the beans must go brown bread that, even in Pennsylvania was attributed to New England, although always served hot with beans. The extra loaves may be wrapped carefully and stored in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator, as may extra portions of the beans. If both are to be used within a day or two, it is unnecessary to freeze the products.

Before serving reheat both beans and brown bread as they must be steaming hot to properly supplement each other. You may like cold baked beans, but this type of bread needs to be hot.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups whole-wheat flour
1½ cups seedless raisins
1 cup molasses
1½ cups sour milk or buttermilk

Sift flour, salt and soda together. Stir in whole-wheat flour and raisins. Mix molasses and sour milk together. Add to dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Pour into 3 well-greased No. 2 cans, filling cans about 2-3 full. Cover top of cans with double thickness of waxed paper and tie securely with string. Add 2 cups water to bottom of large kettle and place cans on rack in kettle. Cover kettle and steam about 3 hours or until bread is done. Cool and remove loaves from cans. Yield 3 loaves. Note: Wrap individual loaves in transparent household wrap to store in freezer.

PENNSYLVANIA BAKED BEANS

1 quart pea beans
¾ pound salt pork
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¾ cup molasses
1 cup boiling water

Wash and pick over beans. Soak in 2 quarts cold water 12 hours. Drain, cover with fresh water, bring to boiling point, and simmer over low heat until skins burst when tested. To test, take up a few beans with spoon and blow. When skins break the beans are tender enough. Drain beans and place in bean pot. Scrape rind of salt pork and cut several gashes in the meat. Press into beans. Mix salt, mustard, molasses and boiling water if necessary to cover beans entirely. Cover and bake in very slow oven (250 degrees F) 6 to 8 hours. Add more water when necessary. Uncover and bake 30 minutes longer until a brown crust has formed. Yield 10 to 12 servings.

Note: If desired 1 medium onion, minced, may be baked with the beans.

CAULIFLOWER DE LUXE

1 large head cauliflower
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
½ cup ripe olives, cut in large pieces
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1½ cups corn flakes, crushed

Cook cauliflower in boiling salted water until tender but firm. Drain and cut out a few flowerettes from center. Place cauliflower in greased casserole. Melt butter or margarine in saucepan and blend in flour and salt. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens and boils. Add cut olives, chopped pimiento and scooped-out flowerettes. Pour into center and around cauliflower in casserole. Sprinkle with crushed corn flakes and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F) about 10 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

FLUFFY FROSTING

2 egg whites
1½ cups sugar
Dash of salt
1-3 cup water
2 teaspoons light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla extract or 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine egg whites, sugar, salt, water and corn syrup in top of double boiler. Beat about 1 minute. Place over boiling water and beat 7 minutes or until frosting will stand in stiff peaks. Remove from hot water and beat until thick enough to spread. Fold in vanilla or lemon juice.

Jessop Steel Merger Is Formed

OWENSBORO, Ky. (UP)—Jessop Steel Co., of Washington, Pa., took over formal control of Green River Steel Corp. in a court-approved stock and cash transaction today.

Officers of Green River received 44,166 shares of Jessop stock in exchange for 662,500 shares of Green River on a 1 to 15 basis. In addition, Green River received $1,500,000 as an advance for working capital and plant improvements.

Jessop, producer of specialty and tool steels, will operate Green River as a wholly owned subsidiary. Green River, organized in 1950, started production of alloy steels three years later in a new 13 million dollar plant on the Ohio River, two miles north of here. In the fiscal year ended, it produced 180,000 tons.

Green River, which had borrowed $8,500,000 from the U.S. Treasury Dept. through the Reconstruction Finance Corp., ran into financial difficulties and went into reorganization proceedings last summer. The plan of purchase by Jessop was approved by both U.S. Dist. Judge Henry Brooks and the Treasury Department.

Holders of Green River's four million dollars in debentures will receive new 25-year certificates from Jessop at full value. Holders have agreed to forego interest payments for two years. After that period, Jessop will pay up to 3½ per cent on the bonds, depending on earnings.

Ambassador to Dominican Republic

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Joseph S. Farland of Morgantown, W. Va., to be U.S. ambassador to the Dominican Republic.

Farland, owner of a fuel company, would succeed William T. Pheiffer, who is resigning.

Farland has previously served as a consultant and special assistant to the State Department on mutual security affairs. He is a Republican. He served as an FBI agent during World War II.

Battle Gas Utility Rate Boost

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The cities of Pittsburgh, Washington, and New Castle, Pa., battled today to block Manufacturers Light and Heat Co.'s request for $6,500,000-a-year in gas rate increases.

The company, represented by Vice President C. A. Massa, told a Public Utility Commission hearing the 12½ per cent increase was necessary — mainly because of higher gas costs plus a still-to-be-settled employe wage boost.

Massa pointed out that the Federal Power Commission has approved rate increases by five companies which supply Manufacturers with national gas from the Southwest. One firm's new rates went into effect last November, and the others will raise prices in July.

Pittsburgh city Solicitor J. Frank McKenna Jr. protested the fact that the hearing, expected to continue for three days, was scheduled at this time. He contended that Manufacturers' test year to determine revenues and expenses will not be completed until May 31.

McKenna said the company request followed too closely on a court decision permitting a three million dollar increase. He noted Manufacturers has won increases totaling 5 million dollars annually during the past three years.

"The city of Pittsburgh is opposed to this continual spiraling of utility rates at the expense of a consuming public," McKenna said.

The PUC has suspended for six months the new increases requested by Manufacturers. The proposed higher rates would affect about 246,000 customers in 25 counties. The company had asked that the new rates become effective on May 12 and 13 and estimated they would add $1.90 a month to bills of heating customers and 74 cents a month to non-heating customers.

Aliquippa License Suspended by State

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Liquor Control Board has suspended for 20 days the license of Robert L Donina, Oak Restaurant, 310 Franklin and 311 Sheffield aves., Aliquoppa, effective May 23.

The board charged the restaurant permitted gambling.

2 Card of Thanks

BOWNESS — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of Martha E. Bowness. The ministrations of Dr. Allan J. Howes, of Uniontown, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral and the aid of the pall bearers, as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.
The Bowness and Mensch Families

3 Memorials

In loving memory of Thomas G. Harris who passed away eight years ago today, May 2, 1949.

We do not forget you
Nor do we intend.
We think of you daily
And will to the end.
Gone and forgotten
By some you may be,
But dear to our memory
Forever you'll be
Sadly missed by Wife and Family

Machinery Tax Bill Returns to House Floor

HARRISBURG (UP)—Legislation to knock out the "machinery tax" in Allegheny County has been returned to the House floor for action with its sponsor confident of passage.

The House Municipal Corporations Committee Tuesday approved the bill to remove the last stronghold of the tax in the state. The bill would prohibit county, school districts from assessing machinery for tax purposes. Pre-irmeoettsesodvhlLyil auurgseev viously Legislatures removed the machinery tax in the state's 66 other counties and Pittsburgh.

The legislation was amended by the committee to soften the loss of revenue in the school districts by extending the elimination of the tax over a five year period. The bill provides the tax would drop 20 per cent annually from 1958 to 1963 to allow the affected school districts to adjust their budgets accordingly.

Rep. Laurence V. Gibb (R-Allegheny), a co-sponsor, said the 28 member Allegheny County House delegation favored the legislation with only "four" dissenters.

"This House will pass the legislation and you can quote me on that," he said. He termed the bill an "equalization measure" to give Allegheny County business concerns the "same tax relief" granted elsewhere.

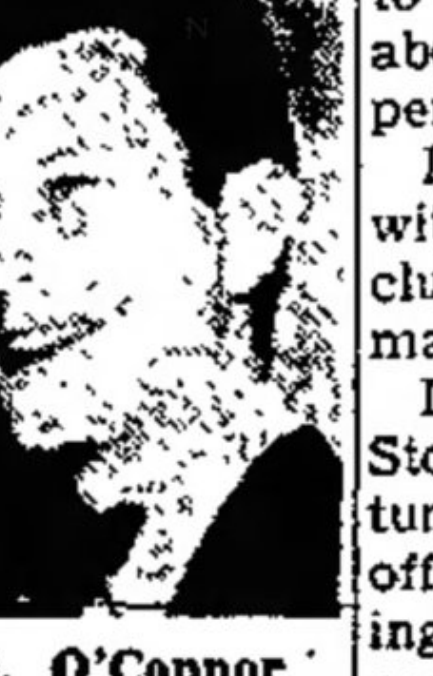
Dancer Defends His Switch to Dramatic

By DONALD O'CONNOR



D. O'Connor

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—I probably raised a few eyebrows recently by announcing that my tap shoes may gather dust on occasion because I intend to vary my movie assignments with straight drama and comedy such as my present film, "The Buster Keaton Story."

"I'm optimistic enough to think I might be around a little longer because of that decision. There are only so many basic dance steps and no matter how you disguise them with fancy production, all dance and no play can make for a very dangerous career problem.

I can best cite Frank Sinatra as an example of someone who has done an expert job of pacing the music—with enough off-beat dramatic roles to insure his success as a versatile performer. After "Man With The Golden Arm" and "Johnny Concho," his fans were eager to see Sinatra in a musical again, such as "High Society."

The public has only seen me in one type of role—a nice fun-loving guy whose problems could never be taken seriously. There are other dimensions to even a comedian's character.

Life itself is a projection of our personal life and problems, and I want to play more mature roles; to express more of what I know about life in terms of my own personal problems.

I want to do musicals, comedy without music, an occasional night club appearance, and straight dramatic roles.

I think "The Buster Kéaton Story" affords me such an opportunity. Buster never did a "shuffle off to Buffalo", so there's no dancing in the picture, but the story provides a rare opportunity to combine comedy and drama in one film. I have tried not to submerge myself in Buster's personality. My idea was to do a direct impersonation in the comedy sequences and express my own personality in the story.

Would Increase Per Capita Tax

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate today received House-approved legislation to increase the per capita school district tax from $5 to $10.

The bill was passed Tuesday, 115-61, over scattered opposition from both major parties. The same bill was defeated April 10, 90-88, but it's supporters gathered enough strength to send it to the Senate on their second attempt.

The legislation would allow local school districts to assess individuals $10 and also increase personal tax from $5 to $10. The bill placed a $15 limit on the amount of money the school district could spend from the total. The remaining $5 would go to the municipality.

Duke Ellington in TV Drama Hour Show

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — Edward Kennedy Ellington, sometimes known as Duke, invades a TV drama hour next week with three vocalists, a crew of dancers, the 15 soloists who make up his band, two extra drummers and a harpist.

William Ewald

The Ellington offering, channeled out of a 48-minute record he cut recently, will be called "A Drum Is A Woman." It's set for CBS-TV's "U S Steel Hour" next Wednesday.

"I don't know what you could call it and I hate categories anyway," said Duke as he applied himself to a platter of bacon and eggs, a bowl of rice, a side order of calves' liver, two grapefruit halves and a pot of coffee.

"It's not only a new thing for the Steel Hour, it's a new thing for TV. hat we're going to do is draw a kind of parallel to the history of jazz without recalling telling the story of jazz.

A Revamping Process

"We're pulling the whole record apart and putting it back together for TV. We're adding vision and giving it dramatic balance. I don't have any precious notions about my music and I don't regret having to tear it up even though I think this is the best thing I've ever done."

In the work, Ellington uses the drum as a symbol for all the instruments. "You know how it is," said Ellington, "a musician will say to his woman — 'here's $2, baby, go on down to the tavern or the movies and leave me alone for a while with the drum.' And so we say a drum is a woman—it kind of takes the place of her."

Ellington, a prime mover in the music world for more than 30 years, does not bemoan the present state of the band business.

"Listen, I got into this thing for kicks and that's what I want out of life—kicks," he said. "I get a bang out of writing, I write all the time. And I like having a band because I like to hear my own stuff played right away. I'm too impatient to wait.

"It's for certain that you can't get into this just to make money—not if you've got a 52-week band. I got a big payroll, a lot of expensive cats. I've got 15 soloists—guys like Johnny Hodges, Harry Carney, Ray Nance.

Lots Of Chiefs

"We've got a congress of 15 bandleaders and one sideman in this outfit and that's me. It runs pretty high."

Ellington does feel that our jazz product is changing. "You know, jazz started out with musicians who couldn't read, who had no sense of discipline," he said. "But that was 50 years ago, it's past. Now, we've got guys coming out of conservatories with something different to say.

"Does it swing? Well, who can say what that means and who can tell? Some musicians do swing, just about all can, but a lot of them don't. But maybe they should. You know as we said in the song—'It don't mean a thing if it ain't got that swing.'

"But we do have something new now. The line between longhair and jazz has become pretty thin. I don't even know what you can call it or even why it should be labeled anything. If it sounds good, it sounds bad, whether you're goofing on longhair or just dixieland."

DALLAS (UP)—Recent floods have made it necessary for most Texans to adapt themselves to changed conditions. This includes thieves. Tuesday, a gunman escaped from a Dallas supermarket with $1,300 in cash. He drove away in a yellow truck, pulling a boat and trailer.

Your Health—

Your Eyes Are Strong, Don't Overtax Them

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

It's amazing how much work your eyes can perform and remain in perfect or near-perfect condition.

Each year Americans read a total of about 18,500,000 newspapers, 4,500,000,000 magazines and some 450,000,000 books. They visit movie houses about 5,000,000,000 times. It's virtually impossible to estimate how many hours they spend before their television sets.

Surprisingly, most eyes hold up pretty well under such tremendous use. As a matter of fact, most persons can read uninterupted for six hours without even suffering eyestrain or fatigue.

If you spent the day reading, your eye muscles would move about 100,000 times. They are among the most exercised muscles in your body. They give such good service because they are about 100 times as strong as they need be.

But despite the amazing strength and adaptability of the eyes, they are not completely self-sufficient. Like anything else that is in almost constant use, they require a certain amount of care.

Improper illumination is a fairly common cause of eyestrain.

I think you will find your eyes will tire less easily when reading if you sit so that the light comes over your shoulder. A 100 watt bulb placed about 20 inches from the page is the ideal setup.

The glare from incorrectly placed lights, glass, shiny walls or highly glazed paper probably causes more of a strain on your eyes than insufficient lighting.

When watching TV and movies, don't try to see the whole screen equally well. Don't try to hold any detail. It is best to keep your eyes and attention constantly on the move.

Rest your eyes every once in a while. During commercials or uninteresting sequences, close your eyes and relax them. You won't miss much.

The greatest length of life of a housefly is approximately 62 days.

Austrians to Elect Next Sunday

VIENNA (UP) — Austrians go to the polls next Sunday to elect the nation's highest dignitary, a president of the republic. It is the second direct presidential election in Austrian history.

Some 4,300,000 Austrians are expected to cast their votes to elect one of two candidates to the office in the imperial castle from which the Hapsburg rulers governed the peoples of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy.

There are little international issues involved in the election. The voters do not seem concerned with relations with Russia, neutrality, ties to the West or the refugee problem. The main question is whether the president should be a politician or not.

The two candidates, presented by the country's two big political parties, are:

Prof. Wolfgang Denk, 35, one of Europe's most famous surgeons, was named by Chancellor Julius Raab's Conservative Peasants Party. He also is supported by the Austrian Freedom Party, an extreme right-wing party which is in opposition to the Peoples Party-Socialist cabinet of Chancellor Raab.

Is Vice-Chancellor

Adolf Schaerf 67, is vice-chancellor in Raab's government, a post he held since 1945. He is supported by the Austrian Socialists and is party chairman.

The election campaign which so far has lacked any dramatic development, has focused on the question whether the republic's president should be a former party politician or a man not affiliated with a party, thus guaranteeing impartiality.

Denk, the Peoples Party candidate, does not belong to a political party and the Conservatives advertise him as the "objective scientist who will stand above the political parties of elected president."

The socialists in their campaign warned the Austrian people not to elect a man, who is not a professional politician, to the country's most important "political office."

"The president must make political decisions, therefore to elect a non-politician as president is highly unadvisable", the Socialist posters said.

They also stressed that the late President Theodor Koerner, who died in January was strictly impartial although he had been an active Socialist Party Politician since the end of World War I.

Schaerf, the Socialists said, has participated in Austria's political life since his early youth. "Schaerf is the best guarantee for our people that the political decisions he has to make as president will be the right ones," the Socialists said.

State Welfare Program Hit by State Legislator

HARRISBURG (UP)—The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said today the state Welfare Department's program would require "a wage tax on top of the sales tax to pay for it."

Rep Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) said "the rosy picture presented by Secretary Harry Shapiro for the next few years is probably the reason the governor's office cut some of his appropriation requests for the mental hospitals below the amounts for the current biennium."

Wood said Shapiro told the committee the number of mental patients in state institutions has been reduced by 2,200, but that Shapiro asked for 17 million dollars more than recommended for the department by Gov. George M. Leader.

"Perhaps Secretary Shapiro has oversold his program," Wood said.

Science Today —

New Drug Used on Leukemia

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — Their results with a comparatively new and experimental drug against one form of leukemia has given three medical scientists "a certain degree of optimism for the eventual control" of all forms of that invariably fatal disease sometimes called blood cancer.

Cancer scientists generally expect the first "breakthrough" to come in leukemia. For that reason they have a special interest in the work of a Tufts University three-man team which began treating chronic granulocytic leukemia with the drug, "Myleran," in 1953.

The scientists now report that they have been able to produce "remissions" in the course of the disease in all of 35 patients. One of these "remissions" has endured for three year and one month and that patient remains "completely well."

"The sustained results" they have had in their cases "although temporary, may indicate that if the disease can be placed under control for two years, it could conceivably be controlled for double or triple that time before 'refractoriness' or relapse occurred," they reported in the New England Journal of Medicine.

To stave off death from an invariably fatal disease for that long has very broad implications. Knowing this the scientists added: "Although at the present time, no definite statement can be made regarding a possible effect of Myleran on the life span of the patient with chronic granulocytic leukemia, there is no question that he is at least temporarily placed in a condition of excellent health, even though the leukemia is by no means 'cured'."

The drug proved to be effective against this one form of leukemia and none other. Of the 35 patients treated since 1953, nine are now dead. Of the 35, 17 had been treated by X-rays or with the chemical agents which are generally used against the disease.

Radiation is the standard treatment and the results from Myleran compared well with the radiation results.

Advantages Over Radiation

But Myleran is easier and more economic for the patient, and has "a remarkable consistency of effect and practically complete freedom from 'side reactions.'—the scientists said. "During remissions induced by Myleran the patients led active and useful lives, and were to all intents and purposes healthy. Thus, their leukemic process may be said to have been placed under complete control."

The patients were started with heavy doses. When the leukemia process was arrested, they were "maintained" with small doses. In a number of cases, relapses were stopped and new "remissions" begun. This was what gave the scientists hope of learning to prolong survival time from the one form of leukemia for indefinite periods.

The reporting scientists were Drs. Asuman Unugar, Edward Schulman, and William Dameshek. Dameshek is professor of medicine at Tufts Myleran is the coined name for the chemical compound 1·4 dimethanesulfonyloxybutane. It was made in a chemical laboratory in 1950, but was not released for limited use in patients until 1953.
